Light Showers Over North Calif.

DRY SPELL NEAR END IS VIEW

S. F. Weather Bureau Forecasts Rainfall During Next 24 Hours

FARM LOSSES TO BE AVERTED, PREDICTION

Precipitation Now Would Be Worth Fortune to Ranchers of State

MODESTO, March 31.—Prospects for a good rain brightened this afternoon when the wind veered to the south. Light showers continued from a heavily overcast sky.

By (United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Hopes that the drought which has threatened heavy losses to farmers in California, may be broken, was held out today when light showers were reported from many parts of Northern California.

The weather bureau predicted showers during the next twenty-four hours, with southerly winds.

The showers started yesterday afternoon at Santa Rosa, Eureka, San Jose and Oroville, the bureau's reports showed, while incomplete reports covering the night showed that the rain became slightly more extensive.

A considerable amount fell here during the night. The coastal regions showed the heaviest precipitation, available figures, not including rainfall during the night, showing a range of from .03 inches at Oroville to .18 inches on Mount Tamal—San Francisco bay.

Rain at this time would be worth thousands of dollars to California farmers and some declared it a sufficient amount fell now, the dry spell would be of actual benefit, the moisture having held off sufficiently long to permit fruit to set in blossoming orchards.

In many parts of the state ranges and fields have been drying for the last ten days, but rain at this time, it was believed, would start vegetation growing once more.

EASTER COLD WAVE NOT SO FAST
WASHINGTON, March 31.—An Easter cold wave swept across the entire Eastern part of the country today, the weather bureau reported.

Unusually low temperatures for this season of the year were reported from many cities of the country and the weather experts predicted it would continue cold throughout Easter Sunday.

Snow was reported in some localities with heavy frosts in the southern states of Virginia and North and South Carolina.

Easter Sunday in the Eastern part of the country will be even colder than today. Fairer weather will prevail in most localities, however.

LIGHT SHOWERS WILL NOT SAVE CROPS
SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 31.About .12 of an inch of rain fell here during the morning. According to the weather bureau the rain is insufficient to save the valley crops.

FEAR CROPS DAMAGED DESPITE LIGHT RAIN
STOCKTON, March 31.—Lacking a day of equalling a 32 year rainless record, the dry spell was broken here with light showers this morning. It is feared the grain crop is already badly damaged.

WAR FRAUD RECORDS DESTROYED IN FIRE
WASHINGTON, March 31.—War contract records of vital importance in connection with federal investigations of alleged war frauds now in progress were destroyed by a fire which burned two buildings at Bolling Field air station here today.

Revise State Budget As Legislators Leave On Vacation

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 31.—Working on revisions of Governor Friend W. Richardson's biennial budget which will be submitted to the state legislature possibly during the coming week, members of the board of control were in their offices today, with the entire force busy on the document changes, while legislators were away on a vacation.

Neither the senate finance committee nor the assembly ways and means committee can take up the budget for serious consideration until it is known what changes the administration contemplates.

These alterations, however, will not be numerous and will be made while always keeping in mind that the state must live within its income, Governor Richardson said today.

ADMITTS PART IN BOMB OUTRAGE THOUGH HURT BY CAR COX ON BENCH

Pilot Whose Car Hit Nemesis of Speeders Faces Recklessness Charge

Although his head and arms were swathed in bandages, covering painful injuries which he sustained when he was run down by an automobile driven by Frank Schmah at about 5:15 p. m. yesterday as he was alighting from a trolley car at Seventeenth and Main streets, Justice J. B. Cox was today on the bench meting out swift and stern justice as usual.

Cox sustained cuts and bruises about his head, arms, shoulders and hips, and sprains about his legs. He was taken to his home, where he called a physician, who attended him.

Schmah was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and was later released on bail. Motorcycle Officer V. Barnhill swore to the complaint. Although the justice was reluctant to swear to a complaint against the driver, the fact that Schmah was said to have violated the state motor vehicle act by passing a trolley car, which was stopped to discharge passengers, caused him to consider bringing action, he said.

Cox was on his way home from the downtown district, and with A. K. Cravath, was alighting from the car when he was struck. Cravath dodged the oncoming automobile, it was said, but the justice was struck, and thrown several feet, after which the car passed over his body.

The fact that no fractures were sustained was considered remarkable, in view of the fact that the machine was not stopped until it proceeded about 30 feet further. The justice suffered extensive abrasions, and his clothing was badly torn.

Characteristic of the speed nemesis, was the fact that he himself telephoned for a physician, merely asking him to call at his residence, 1628 North Bush street, without telling him any of the details of the case.

Responding to a reporter's telephone call a few moments after the accident, and before the physician had arrived, Cox said: "They Can't Kill Me"

"Sure I got hit. I was knocked down, rolled over and run over. All my clothes were torn off, but they can't kill me. I'll be in court tomorrow."

And he was. At 7 a. m. today he was on the bench, and despite the fact that he was suffering severe pains from the bruises, he refused to complain.

Schmah and his father came to Santa Ana by automobile only a few weeks ago from Colorado, and had been staying at the municipal automobile camp on North Main street. The lad did not know any state law prohibiting passing trolley cars which were discharging passengers, he said.

Motorcycle Officer V. Barnhill reached the scene of the accident a short time after it occurred. "This habit of passing stationery trolley cars is dangerous," City Marshal Claude Rogers said today. "I have instructed motorcycle officers to exercise extraordinary vigilance in apprehending these violators."

Girl Who Won Mates By Mail Faces Indictment for Fraud

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, March 31.—Nancy Crownover, 30, "correspondence sweetheart" was under indictment on four counts here today charged with using the mails to defraud.

Each count names some man whom she is alleged to have asked for money to defray traveling expenses to go to him and become his bride.

The names in the indictment as being the alleged victims included: G. H. Garrison, 4535 Eleventh avenue, Sacramento, Calif.

Miss Crownover will probably face trial the next term of court.

FEAR HEAVY DEATH TOLL IN BLIZZARD

Body of Three Victims of St. Johns Gale Found; Mail Ship Is Caught in Ice.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 31.—At least three persons lost their lives in a blizzard that has been sweeping this island for the last three days and it is feared that the death toll may be increased when outlying districts are heard from.

Three men were caught by the storm while chopping wood away from their homes and could not make their way to shelter. Their bodies were found at Three Harbors, sixty miles east of here.

Local authorities are inclined to discount the story, believing that Wilson invented it for the purpose of trying to gain commutation of his sentence.

Wilson said he recognized a photograph of Wolfe Lindenfeldt, arrested in Warsaw, Poland, some time ago for investigation in connection with the case, as the man who had ordered the bomb manufactured.

Through Lindenfeldt, according to Wilson, he met a large number of the remaining members of the "radical group" who, he says, were behind the bombing. He believes he can identify these members.

Local authorities and postoffice inspectors working on the case are taking no action in the case pending the forthcoming arrival here of William J. Burns, head of the secret service department, who was in charge of the bomb plot investigation.

Burns, according to his local agency, will arrive here in a few days from Jacksonville, Fla., and can check up very shortly on whether there is any truth to Wilson's story.

MIAMI, Fla., March 31.—"Pure bunk" was the opinion expressed today by William J. Burns, head of the investigation bureau of the federal department of justice of the confession of Herbert Wilson, convict in the Los Angeles jail, that he made the bomb which exploded in Wall street September 17, 1920.

"This is my personal opinion of Wilson's supposed confession," Burns stated, "but five minutes talk with him will suffice to determine whether he had anything to do with the Wall street bomb plot."

ORDERS SURVEY OF FEDERAL HOSPITALS

WASHINGTON, March 31.—A general survey of federal hospital facilities has been ordered by General Frank L. Hines, director of the veterans bureau, it was announced at the bureau today.

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine the adequacy of the federal hospital system, which has been under fire for many months by veterans organizations.

MOSCOW, March 31.—Premier Lenin's general condition was improved today, according to the official bulletin from his bedside.

Lenin's temperature was 37.8 centigrade (approximately 100 fahrenheit), pulse 120.

Jury Convicts Mayor And 61 Citizens In Gary Booze Trial

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—All but seven of sixty-two Gary, Ind., residents on trial for alleged conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, were found guilty in United States district court here today.

The jury returned a verdict shortly after 10 a. m. Roswell Johnson, mayor of Gary, and other high officials of the city were among those found guilty.

The verdict marks a victory for the government in the greatest liquor fraud conspiracy case ever brought to trial since the enactment of the prohibition amendment.

The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury after an exhaustive investigation of conditions in the Calumet steel districts of northern Indiana, containing a large foreign population.

$500 LEVIED IN RUM CASE SETS RECORD

Man Jailed at Dance on Liquor Possession Charge Given Stiff Sentence.

Levying the heaviest fine so far imposed in Orange county courts under authority of the Wright act, Justice J. B. Cox today sentenced E. D. Stevens, arrested for alleged possession of liquor at a dance at La Habra last night, to pay $500 fine or serve 180 days in the county jail.

Stevens was arrested when a flying squadron from the sheriff's office swooped down on the dance hall, and conducted a general cleanup. Several persons were given tickets for traffic violations, others, in various asserted stages of inebriety were sent home, and cars were searched for liquor.

When the officers attempted to arrest Stevens, the defendant tried to break the bottle in which the liquor was contained, they said, but he was prevented from doing so.

The penalty imposed was the most severe ever meted out in lower court here, it was said.

TROJANS LEAD IN MEET AT BERKELEY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
BERKELEY, Calif., March 31.—Charley Paddock failed to equal the world's record for the 100 yard dash at the California oval this afternoon. His time was 9 and 4-5 seconds.

U. S. C. held a lead of seven points at the end of the first six events. The score was 26 to 19 in favor of the Trojans.

California got away to a good start by winning all three places in the mile but the Trojans came back and took all three places in the quarter, tying the record.

INCUMBENTS ON BOARDS ARE RE-ELECTED

Candidates for re-election to county school boards today were ready to go on with the administration of their respective schools as the result yesterday of elections held in grammar and high school districts. Almost, without exception, incumbents were returned to office.

Travers Re-elected
The closest contest was in the Fullerton union high school district where only 95 votes separated the totals of W. T. Travers, high school director, and G. W. Finch, who opposed him. The biggest vote in the history of the Fullerton union high school district was cast, 2336 ballots. Finch backers claimed that the school had been run extravagantly and that the scholastic standing was low. Travers supporters pointed to the record of Fullerton graduates in colleges of Southern California as refutation of the scholastic charge. Finch carried Fullerton, Buena Park and Orange while his opponent gained his chief support in Olinda, Brea and Placentia, towns in the northeastern section of the county.

In Anaheim the victory of re-election candidates was sweeping. S. B. Winters was re-elected to the high school board by nearly 1000 votes over Herman Ekfer. George W. Sloop, seeking re-election to the grammar school board, triumphed over his write-in opponents, J. L. Finley and Fred Heying, by about 800 votes. Finley and Heying received about 100 votes each.

The election of Sloop is interpreted as an endorsement of the present Anaheim grammar school board which has undertaken the construction of a $50,000 junior high school without the issuance of bonds, the first time such a building has been erected by a school board in the county, their supporters said.

McKenney Returned.
In Huntington Beach W. L. McKenney, present head of the union high school board, was re-elected to his position over Mrs. Blanche Gates, candidate of the woman's club, Oil Workers union and its auxiliary.

A number of issues entered into the campaign at Huntington Beach and the enmity between the two factions was keen up until election day. McKenney received 649 votes and Mrs. Gates 160 in one of the hottest elections Huntington Beach has ever seen.

J. G. Allen had no opposition for Grammar school trustee at Garden Grove.
At Villa Park John Allen, candidate for a place on the grammar school board, and C. A. Palmer, for the Orange union high school board, each received thirteen votes. There was no opposition. A. H. Mulvane, running to succeed Elmer Haywood on the Orange Grammar school board, was beaten by William Feldner. M. Payan was elected to the grammar school board at Olive without opposition. Mrs. R. W. Jones had no opposition for the place on the grammar school board at El Modena.

THROGS READY TO ATTEND EASTER WORSHIP IN COUNTY

Easter, anniversary of the Resurrection and the real birthday of Christian civilization, will be reverently celebrated in Santa Ana and Orange county tomorrow, as it has been celebrated in all sections of the civilized world for nearly nineteen hundred years.

Today scores of ministers, choir leaders, individual soloists, musicians and many others who will have active parts in Easter ceremonies, were feverishly engaged in adding the finishing touches to elaborate programs.

Appropriate arrangements have been made by the Rev. F. T. Porter, representing the Santa Ana Ministerial association, in charge of the sunrise services to be held on Marcy Heights at 5:45 a. m.

It was expected that between 1,500 and 2,000 worshippers would flock to the cross on the hill, while other hundreds will attend similar services at Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach, Fullerton, Buena Park and other points in and near Orange county. As usual, thousands will journey to Riverside to attend impressive services to be conducted on Mount Rubidoux.

Advocate to Motorists.
For the guidance of those who plan to visit Marcy Heights, the Rev. Mr. Porter today repeated his advice concerning the best method of approach. Motorists were advised to go up the hill from the south side and depart on the northern side. Boy Scouts will be in attendance to direct traffic, with Roland Dye, Orange county scout executive in charge.

Easter services at Marcy Heights will begin promptly at 5:45. The Rev. W. E. Roberts will deliver the sermon, "Easter Dawn."

Easter services at the United Presbyterian church, Sixth and Bush streets, will begin at 11 a. m., when the choir will render an Easter cantata, "Easteride," by Prothero. At the morning service, at 11 o'clock the pastor's subject will be "The Search of the Soul." In the evening two addresses will be given. $2500 HELD LOSS IN MOUNTAIN FIRE

That the fighting of the fire that swept the heads of Trabuco and San Juan canyons this week cost about $2500, was the word received today by Victor Walker, from Forest Ranger H. I. Snider, of Corona, who was in charge of the stand made against the progress of the flames.

The fire was started by a fuse used in blasting rock on a trail, it was learned. It was not due to carelessness on the part of the trail crew in leaving an unguarded fire. Snider believes some regulations will be issued in relation to blasting in hot weather, as this is the second fire in the Cleveland forest from this cause the other having been in the Cucamonga mountains from a fuse thrown into brush from blasting by a San Diego county road crew.

Snider estimates that 2500 acres were burned over, the area covered averaging a mile wide and four miles long.

Snider ended his patrol of the district yesterday afternoon, only the trail crew remaining. He commends the excellent work done by the ninety fire fighters who were engaged in the fight.

SCOUTS WIN PRIZES IN TREASURE HUNT

Treasure hunting was the pleasant business of more than forty boys of the Santa Ana Junior and Intermediate "Y" clubs today under the direction of T. P. McKee, community secretary.

Each boy was provided with written instructions as to the trail he was to follow in order to reach the prize. At a given signal, the boys, divided into groups, left the "Y" hut at 10 a. m. and began their search.

Following the hunt, McKee arranged a treat for all the boys regardless of whether they won prizes.

SAN DIEGO, March 31.—Establishment of a 30-acre, $2,000,000 all-year pleasure resort at Mission Bay beach, north of this city, was announced today by Claus Sprinkle, general manager of the San Diego electric railway company. Work began today. The project includes a huge convention hall, large bath house, civic center and other improvements. A new double track electric line will be built from San Diego to the resort and express service provided. It is announced. The project is the biggest amusement enterprise in the history of San Diego county.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC IS NOT READY FOR EXTENDING LINES

LA HABRA, March 31.—Construction of a line by the Pacific Electric railroad from Corona through Santa Ana canyon to Stern, which is the end of the road from Los Angeles to Whittier and La Habra, and the connection of the short stretch from Stern to Marlboro, the end of the Santa Ana-Orange line, rumored as a possibility to be incorporated in the building program of the Pacific Electric this year, according to a report of industrial development published on the coast, has not received the attention of railroad officials recently, according to O. A. Smith, passenger agent.

"The proposed extension of our lines from Corona to Stern is no nearer a reality today than it was two years ago when the project was discussed," said Mr. Smith, passenger agent for the Pacific Electric railway, when questioned regarding a rumor that the proposed extension would be made at once. "We have talked the project over several times," he continued, "but so far have done nothing definite other than make a rough estimate of the cost."

"The company intends to, some day, extend this line in order to give the residents of the inland towns a more direct line to Los Angeles and the beaches. The work will not be done, however, until the board of directors can be persuaded to vote the money necessary for the work."

"The proposed extension will be a continuation of the Corona line from that city to Stern, where it will connect with the line through Whittier to Los Angeles. A branch line will be constructed from Stern to Marlboro, connecting with the Santa Ana line to Los Angeles. This is the proposed plan of extension, but when the work will be done it is hard to say. It may be several years before we can secure an appropriation for the work, and it may be only a matter of months."

POLICE FOILED AS 'RAFFLES' GETS JEWELS

(By United Press Licensed Wire)

Political Statement

FRANK L. BURNS
With nearly twenty years of work in charge of a responsible office for a large insurance concern, Frank L. Burns has no hesitancy in going before the voters of Santa Ana with the assertion that he is fully qualified for the position of city treasurer, for which office he is a candidate.

It is pointed out that Burns has had a wide experience in business dealings. His work for corporations has been such as would give him excellent training for a city treasurership.

A close student of public affairs, Burns has been deeply interested in municipal movements in Santa Ana ever since he made this city his home five years ago. While here he has been engaged in newspaper work and in real estate brokerage. His home is at the Elks club, in this city.

Those who know Burns, point out that he is a man who meets the public well; by disposition, accommodating; personally, a man of high honor and integrity.

Those who qualified in the shotput were:

The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism

A remarkable book written by an authority who has spent more than 20 years of his life in study, research and experimentation in this distressing disease. One of the many new and startling facts which this distinguished writer clearly sets forth and proves is that Uric Acid never did and never can cause Rheumatism. That Uric Acid is a natural and necessary part of our blood—found even in every new-born babe—and that without it we could not live!

Every sufferer of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago and associated disorders should read it. A limited edition is now being distributed free by the author and fortunately anyone sending name and address to H. F. Clearwater, Ph. D., 1233-D Water St., Hallowell, Maine, U. S. A., will receive a copy of this valuable book by return mail, postage paid and entirely free of charge. If not a sufferer yourself cut out this notice and help some afflicted friend by handing it to him.

"It Pays to Swim with the Current"

This is about two spark plugs. At the moment they are lying on the sales manager's desk in the establishment of a large middle-western hardware jobber.

One spark plug bears a name known wherever automobiles are used, the other a name seldom heard.

Both, says the sales manager, are good plugs. On the score of quality they run neck and neck.

"But," he adds, "we are discontinuing this line"—and he holds up the plug of unfamiliar name. "Yes, and our discount on it is larger, too."

"What's wrong with it? Not a thing. It's a good plug—mighty good plug, but—no one knows about it. It isn't advertised—the other one is. The demand is for the advertised make. And we've learned it pays to swim with the current, not against it."

More and more jobbers in every line of business are learning every day that it pays to swim with the current of popular demand.

"Our job," said one jobber, "is to supply markets, not create them. Let the manufacturer make a market for his goods, and we will handle it."

Said another—"Our salesmen carry a catalog with thousands of items in it. They haven't the time to push unadvertised goods. Their work is principally taking orders."

If you go among these wholesalers today to introduce a new product in competition with merchandise nationally advertised, unless the article is exceptional, you will be met everywhere by the injunction: "First go out and get a reputation for your goods through advertising."

The wholesaler knows by actual contact with dealers how they value speed of turnover, goods which move with a minimum of effort, goods people know about and ask for.

Montevideo, Minn.—"I suffered for Compound I grew strong, and now I

I keep house and

Another Nervous Woman Finds Relief

Port Huron, Mich.—"I suffered for two years with pains in my side, nervous and just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I was sleep-anything, and was so nervous I would bite my fingernails. One of my friends

TO DEFER DEDICATION OF MISSION CHURCH UNTIL LATE SUMMER

Father Serra's church, rebuilt, at San Juan Capistrano will not be ready for dedication until late summer, possibly August.

Information to that effect was given out today by the Rev. St.
John O'Sullivan, priest in charge of the old Franciscan mission.

"An erroneous impression is out that the dedication is to be on Easter," said the priest. "There is much still to be done before the work is completed. I hope to have the dedication in August."

MUSIC WILL BE CROWNED KING NEXT WEEK

Music is to be crowned king in Santa Ana.

Virtually every church in the city will feature Easter music tomorrow.

Monday evening, at the Temple Theater, the Orange County Choral union will present the first of three performances of "The Golden Legend," Sir Arthur Sullivan's well-known cantata.

The final performance of this work Wednesday night will feature the opening of the convention of the State Federation of Music clubs. The convention will continue to and including Saturday.

Offerings to be presented during the meeting of the state federation will give music lovers of the city and county an opportunity to hear scores of vocal and instrumental artists, some of them of international reputation.

Concert to be Feature.

One of the high-lights of these offerings will be the concert that the famous Flonzaley quartette is to give at the high school auditorium the night of April 6.

Five winners in the contest for young artists, staged under the auspices of the State Federation of Music clubs, announced today by Clarence A. Gustlin of this city, will appear in concerts to be given in Santa Ana during the convention of the federation.

The winners announced by Gustlin were Miss Emma Hardy, Balboa, winner in the violin contest; Mrs. Ruth Williams, Long Beach, dramatic soprano; Paul Russell, baritone, Pomona college;
Miss Corinne Keefe, Berkeley, contralto, and Miss Aileen Pealy,
San Francisco, pianist.

Treat Assured.

"All these young artists," said Gustlin, "were roundly applauded for their efforts in the statewide contest. As a result of winning the competition in their respective classes, the artists will later go East to compete with artists entered in national competitive events. Music lovers are assured a rare treat when these and other artists appear here in connection with the great musical convention."

Gustlin, who is rapidly completing arrangements for the convention, was advised by Mrs. Lillian Birmingham, president of the federation, that a number of leading musical critics will come to Santa Ana to attend the convention sessions. Among these will be Redfern Mason, well known San Francisco critic.

NEWSPAPER MAN GETS OIL LEASE BONUS TIP

When Robert Speed, manager of the South San Francisco Enterprise, received a letter offering him some money as a bonus for an oil lease on ten acres that he owns corner of View and Paulino, Speed put on a show in getting to Santa Ana. He arrived here yesterday, and began inquiring:

"I have been totally out of touch with affairs in my old home section," said Speed, who lived in the Greenview section for years, and as a young man, left farming to go into newspaper work. "I hadn't even taken the trouble to try to rent my ten acres, which is all that I have left of my old farm. I haven't had a cent of income off the place for two years, and then I got this offer."

While Speed is calling here on old friends, most of them have to take a second look at him before they recognize him, for he is weighing somewhere around fifty pounds more than he did when he lived here.

Wm. Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Gen. 12:1-5, Heb. 11:8-10, 17-19) Faith is one of the virtues of the virtues extolled by Paul in his tribute to "faith, hope, charity."
No character in the Bible better illustrates it than Abraham.

Two passages make this plain —one from Genesis, which describes the call of Abraham, and one from Hebrews, in which the Apostle recounts the faith of the patriarch.

The story is briefly told, like all the wonderful stories of the Bible. As literature they surpass in beauty, in cleanliness, and in force all uninspired utterances.

"Now the Lord had said unto Abraham, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee:

"And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great;
and thou shalt be a blessing:

"And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curse thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed."

"So Abram departed, as the Lord had spoken unto him."

God spoke to Abram, setting forth a promise as a reward for obedience, and "so Abram departed."

It was a long journey in those days and into a strange land. He went with a purpose. He was to establish a family and a nation; his name was to be great and he was to be a blessing. Abram was seventy-five years old when the call came to him, but, notwithstanding, he gathered his substance together and all the family, including Lot, his brother's son, and they went forth into the land of Canaan.

"By Faith, He Obeyed"

Paul, in his great apostrophe to faith, says:

"By faith, Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whether he went."

"By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles (tents) with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise."

"For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

First, a word as to the part which faith plays in human life.
Much has been said about the relative importance of faith and works, but the discussion is of little practical value because neither is sufficient alone.

"Without faith it is impossible to please God," and, it may be added, impossible to do anything else of value.

"Faith comes first and works afterward, but works must come."
"Faith without works is dead, but doing must follow."

Abraham believed God and, believing obeyed.

How Abraham Escaped Oblivion

If Abraham had had faith only —that is, faith without works—he would have been unknown because he would have done no work. He united the two and, by uniting them, proved what faith can accomplish when it expresses itself in the works to which faith leads.

Abraham established a family from which there has never been a greater. He also established a religion without which the family would have been unknown.
The family for more than twenty centuries preserved the worship of one God and it may be just as truly said that religion also preserved the family.

When we speak of the aid which an individual renders to a great cause we sometimes overlook the fact that the cause gives more strength to those who support it than they can possibly give to the cause. A righteous cause has in it that which insures its triumph. Man can delay or hasten victory, but he cannot prevent victory and his contribution is often overestimated.

God uses those whom He chooses—fortunate are they unto whom He entrusts a great work, as he has selected others for particular tasks.

Exercise for the Imagination

The Bible does not tell us why Abraham was so favored above others of his time. All we know is that Abraham was the son of Tera, who journeyed toward the land of Canaan as far as Haran, and died there.

Those who enjoy speculation can find ample exercise for the imagination in trying to picture the present condition of the world if Abraham had not heard the voice of God calling him to his great work, or, hearing, had not obeyed.

Other races have appeared and disappeared; other nations have risen and fallen. Egypt once occupied the first place in the civilization of her time. Archeologists still search for the riches buried in her splendid tombs.

Greece developed athletes with her national games, and her artists immortalized the perfection to which the body attained. Her So we must be able to see be-philosophers, her orators, and her historians were for several centuries the leaders of the world.

The Only Thing That Lasts

Then Rome rose to the height of her power and set the world's pace in law and in the science of war. Other nations have risen and impressed themselves upon history by some special line of work, but their superiority was not enduring.

Religion is the only thing that lasts. It made the Children of Israel a peculiar people and raised up such a host of great leaders as has never appeared among any other people of like number and opportunity.

Out of the race of Abraham and out of the monotheistic religion which he established came the Messiah who, grafting Christianity upon Judaism, carried the religion of Abraham to every race and clime.

Beginning with the faith of one man proven by this obedience, the worship of one God which he established, interpreted and fulfilled by Christ, has become the greatest pillar of strength to the mightiest nations of the earth and the hope of the world.

Our Ruling Element

Go to Church on Easter

By DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK
Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, New York

Go to church on Easter!

That is not the whole of Christianity—not by a long sea-mile! Being a Christian extends through seven days every week, twelve months a year, and it affects a man's whole life, from his secret thoughts to his business methods and his citizenship.

Because the finest elements in our American life came from the influence of Jesus Christ, and Easter is the festival of his victory. Because civilization's deepest need is the triumph of real Christianity and Easter is Christianity's rallying-day.

Because this is one of the most spiritually restless generations in human history, and the message of Easter—a victorious spiritual life which can conquer trouble, sin and death—is the message that modern men and women need.

Because you yourself have the old human needs for faith in God, inward power to carry on, and hope of life eternal, and Easter should have a personal message for you.

PICK WINNERS IN ORATORY TRYOUTS

Three high school students were one step nearer the final contest in the Southern California Citizens' committee oratorical contest today, as a result of preliminary tryouts held yesterday afternoon in the high school auditorium.

The three winners of yesterday's contest were John Harper, Enid Twist and Alice Richards. These three will compete again Monday, April 9, at which time the judges will choose two to represent the school in the county contest, April 13. The final contest will be held in Los Angeles, May 11. Judges yesterday were Miss Jennie Lasby, Miss Jessie Paxton, J. E. Jackson and Elmer T. Worthing. All of the high school faculty. They expressed the utmost approval of the contest, and according to Elmer T. Worthing, public speaking instructor in the high school and college, the contest brought out the best high school oratorical work he has ever heard.

Orations Praised. Unusually fine creations, all on subjects relating to the Constitution of the United States, were delivered by the students and the marked by clear-cut enunciation and earnestness which went far toward making the judges exclaim at the character of the work. Without exception the orations brought out the fundamental principles of the Constitution and the government under the Constitution in a way that would make the most intense citizenship enthusiast optimistic about the ideas of students regarding the government.

Out and out Americans stood on the high school stage pleading for the support of the essentials in the maintenance of law and order and of freedom.

Contestants Talented. The contestants, it was said, represented the best talent in the school. Here are the students and the titles of their orations: John Harper, "John Marshall, the Interpreter of the Constitution;" Alice Richards, "John Marshall—The Builder of the Constitution;" Robert O'Brien, "Daniel Webster, the Expounder of the Constitution;" Edwin Cochems, "The Constitution, the Citadel of Freedom;" Kinsley Hancock, "Alexander Hamilton—" John Donnan, "The Constitution, the Citadel of Freedom;" Laura Matthews, "The Constitution—"

EASTER PROGRAM AT SEAL BEACH READY FOR SUNDAY NIGHT

SEAL BEACH, March 31.—An Easter program will be given at the Bungalow church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock under the direction of Mrs. B. B. Brown, who has had the training of the children in charge. The following will be adhered to: Opening song by the Sunday school; invocation, Rev. Taylor; address, Superintendent Reed; Easter greeting, Jessie Partridge and Virginia Shupe; recitation, John Partridge; Easter exercise, Margaret Partridge, Margaret Parkhurst, Theda Deem, Charlotte Cline; song by school; solo, Melba Thomas; "Little Pilgrims," Novella Taylor, Constance Partridge, Charlotte Cline; exercise, "The Lilies," solo, Norma Reed; song, Boy Scouts; saxophone solo, Lennie Hocking.

Marian Terstegen celebrated her birthday this week and a trip to the light house at Point Fermin was planned as a special treat. The guests of honor were June Beede and Helen Transue. Harry Reich, one of the pioneers of Seal Beach, died Saturday morning in the Orange County hospital. He was 79 years old and a native of Germany. He came to Anaheim Landing thirty-nine years ago. For many years he built boats here. In earlier days he had been a ship's carpenter, and on one voyage his ship was frozen in the Arctic ocean for three years. He is survived by his widow, Frances Reich. Funeral services were held Wednesday.

Constance Stevens celebrated her birthday Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Gade made a business trip to Santa Ana Thursday. Services at the Catholic church Saturday and Sunday will include "Blessing of the Easter Candle," "Baptismal Font" and mass at 8 a. m. Saturday, low mass at 7:30 a. m. and high mass and benediction 9 a. m. Another new house is to be built on Fourteenth street, with C. M. Conlee as contractor, for Mrs. Mary J. Coffin, Hawthorne. The Hammer cottage is nearing completion.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Mystery surrounding the discovery of a woman's charred remains in the flames of a burning garage on Wilton Place, in the fashionable residential district here, evaporated today when Dr. William T. Clark, a local physician, identified the remains as a forgotten surgical specimen he had left there many years previously. The body had been hermetically sealed in a box.

UNITED STATES HAS BIGGER DEMAND FOR MANUFACTURED HAIR

BERLIN, March 31.—The United States has a larger consumption of false hair than all the rest of the world, put together, according to leading hair exporters here.

The return of long skirts and the advent of large picture hats, making women look less girlish and making boyish bobbed-hair incongruous, have created among the women of the world, especially the American women—a demand for more hair.

New York is the world's largest false hair market, dealers here declare. The United States, which invented the bobbed-hair style, is now trying to get "under cover" again.

Germany, where the bobbed-hair did not take much of a hold,

RECOMMENDATIONS TO END CONFUSION

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Recommendations of the second National radio conference, which are expected to end confusion in radio broadcasting, may be given full effect without an executive order from President Harding, Solicitor Davis of the Department of Commerce, informed Secretary Hoover today.

Secretary Hoover, according to Mr. Davis, has full authority, under the law, to give the recommendations full effect after consultation with the heads of other departments of the government affected by the new rules.

Italy ranks just behind the United States in false hair consumption with French and Czechoslovakia just behind.

The Patchwork Quilt

By Eleanor Young Elliott HAVE YOU A PIECE TO PUT

NANCY AND I

With a ribbon on her bonnet and a perky little bow Miss Nancy went a-walking on that Easter long ago. And the fetching little bonnet which she wore atop her curls.

Made her seem to all who met her, quite the loveliest of girls.

I gathered fragrant posies and I wove them in a crown To place upon her golden hair, as soft as thistle down; And I whispered as I did it that I faint would have her know She was sweeter than the blossoms of that Easter long ago.

But alas, the posies withered and she plucked them from her hair And donned again the bonnet with its fetching little air. But the roses in her pretty cheeks continued long to glow.

For I told her that I loved her, on that Easter long ago.

"PERHAPS THE ENCLOSED CLIPPING would be of interest to the readers of the Quilt, who, like myself, might be at sea in determining just when Easter is due," writes C. W. McN. enclosing the following verses which will help establish the date in the minds of all of us.

How to Locate Easter
"Thirty days hath September," Every person can remember; But to know when Easter comes Puzzles even scholars, some. When March the twenty-first is past, Just watch the silvery moon, And, when you see it full and round, Know Easter'll be here soon. After the moon has reached its full.

Then Easter will be here, The very Sunday after, In each and every year. And, if it hap on Sunday The moon should reach its height, The Sunday following this event Will be the Easter bright.

CHATTING OVER THE TEACUPS at the gay little orange and black Ebell Tea Room, we were indulging in that favorite in-door sport of humankind, discussing the trend of the times—in other words, present day youth.

There is little doubt in my mind but that Eve, watching with disapproving eye, the offspring of her own Cain and Abel, shook her head mournfully and said "Adam, I wonder what the world is coming to! Girls were not like this in MY day!"

We told of one of the valued possessions of the Postage Stamp house, a bound volume of the first edition of Harper's Weekly, way back in eighteen-thirty, something or other. In it, a leading editorial on the irreverence and general lawlessness of the youth of that day, with allusions to prevailing styles for young women altered a bit and date line changed, would fit into the editorial columns of any present day newspaper in the country.

So we decided there over our tea, that the old saying that "Times change and men change with them" was not literally true. Times change but man is eternally changeless. And as each generation reaches maturity and has to wear the garments of maturity while still retaining the angularity and underdevelopment of youth, it seems particularly awkward and uncouth to the older folk who have settled into their garments and forget that theirs too were once new and strange-feeling.

The feeling of being ill at ease in unaccustomed clothes induces self-consciousness that takes the form of "showing-off." Each generation has to learn to wear the new garments of freedom from childhood restraint, and adapt it them to the figure.

After a short time, when the wearer has settled into the garments and fitted and smoothed and become accustomed to the feel thereof, all sense of strangeness and the exhilaration that accompanies a new frock for womankind, will be gone and, completely familiar with the wearing apparel, youth will lose its self-consciousness and be appropriately and gracefully clad.

Then the garments will seem neither too new nor too ill-fitting. And we are all going to consider them most becoming.

"CONCERNING A LOVE OF CLOTHES."

Isn't that an alluring title for a brief spring poem? And the verses are as dainty as one might wish. They were published in the March number of Lyric West, California's little magazine of verse issued at Los Angeles, and were written by Allene Gates. —And here they are: Again Spring comes and Earth is clothed anew With emerald blades of grass and blossoms fair. Both mortals and immortals feel they too, Must now array themselves with special care.

Alluring and entrancing hats come out; Enchanting robes to which sweet perfume clings; But Cupid, shopping, wistfully looks about: "I'd like to see the latest thing in wings!"

Newcomer to Our City Offers Motif for Pleasant Party

Offering a charming hospitality and a pleasant variety of entertaining features, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Olivari gathered together a group of friends recently at their attractive Orange avenue home to honor Mrs. Julia Felton, recently from San Luis Obispo.

Guests were relatives of Mrs. Felton with a very few friends called together to welcome her to the city.

Among the entertaining events of the evening was that offered by Mr. Olivari's radio outfit, even though not of the kind usually associated with so complete a set. For with all the artistic temperament of a prima donna, the outfit refused to "tune in" much to the amusement of the guests and the chagrin of the host.

However, cards and dancing offered ample attractions, serving to cover the lack of a radio program, and added variety was given by a dainty midnight supper when card tables were spread with embroidered linens and centered with gay little rose baskets of sugared nuts for the serving of the appetizing menu.

Great jars of purple fleur-de-lis, St. John lilies and amilax added a pleasant touch to the decorations of the home and those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Olivari and the friendly charm of Mrs. Felton were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Isbell, Mr. and Mrs. William Priole, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayhew and Miss Dorothy Mayhew, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Eleanor Elliott and her house-guest, Miss Elizabeth Newlands of Lorain, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carrillo and Messrs. Harold Fulton and Gene Hoff.

Sedgwick Post Surgeon Bids Friendly Group To Birthday Feast

A happy birthday celebration was that of M. N. Fuller of North Birch street who yesterday was host to a little group of friends and comrades of the G. A. R. gathered to enjoy a birthday feast and wish their comrades joy on his eighty-fifth anniversary.

The bountiful dinner was served at a flower-decked table at the noon hour and Mrs. Fuller was assisted in preparing and serving it by Mrs. Miller. Seated around the table at whose head presided Mr. Fuller, the honoree, were Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Spencer, Mr. Dietrich Funk, Judge E. T. Langley, Mrs. Metcalf, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Fuller.

One of the events of the day was the cutting of a wonderful cake sent to Mr. Fuller by the president of the Bake Rite Bakers, at San Francisco. The cake was a triumph of culinary skill which weighed thirty pounds and into whose construction had gone five dozen eggs. While presented by the San Franciscan, it was a true Orange county product as it had been baked in the Orange County bakery.

Mr. Fuller was congratulated upon his attainment of another splendid birthday, and the day was a happy one both for him and for his friends with but one disappointment. That was the failure of Mrs. Highborn of Louisville, Mo., to arrive in time for the celebration.

Prominent in patriotic circles in the city, the birthday host is surgeon of Sedgwick Post No. 17, G. A. R. where Judge Langley and Mrs. Spencer are each prominent members, the former noted for his excellent talks and the latter for the violin music which adds to many a patriotic program.

Vacation Visitor Returns Home

Completing a pleasant week in this city with her sister, Miss Joy Leitch, Miss Flavia Leitch has returned to her Los Angeles home and on Monday will resume her studies at University of California, Southern Branch.

A number of pleasantly informal affairs were given during her vacation days in the city, among them being several gay little studio parties at the studio for interpretive dancing which Miss Joy Leitch maintains in the Greenleaf building. Another charming affair was the small informal dinner given at St. Ann's Inn by Miss Margaret White of 730 South Birch street.

Music Pupils Please In Recital

With a pleased audience of parents and close friends, a number of young pupils of Gladys L. Harris, Freda Mooser Barger and Elwood Bear of the Sherwood Music school were presented in a recent interesting recital at the reception room of the Orange County Piano company.

The young people were very successful in their interpretations of the different numbers. Mr. Bear's violin pupils were all of the intermediate grade and their numbers were interspersed through the program. Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Barger alternated as accompanists and their program was as follows: "Lullabye" by Bloch, Vandonna "Tash;" "Humoresque" by Dvorak, Robert Jensen; Donal's "Mazurka;" Rowena Newcomb and "T. Trovatore" by Verdi, Earl Prince with Mrs. Prince at the piano.

Miss Harris presented five pupils, Layton Owens playing "Tyrolean Shepherd Boy;" Catherine Dale, "Broken Melody;" Hazel Schaeffer, a Beethoven Sonata, Opus 49; Henry Walker, Beethoven's Sonata in A Flat; and Bernice Davis, "La Petite Amour-ette" by Cowles.

Mrs. Barger's pupils were La Mar Hossler, Juliana Nissen playing Sousa's march "Stars and Stripes Forever;" Rowena Cone playing "Under Chinese Lanterns" by Terry; Marie Rash playing "Rustic Dance" by Howell.

Very likely there is a panel in your house which demands an oval mirror with its graceful lines. We have one here that will please you. The plate is plain. The crest has a gray body with burnished gold outline, antique gold being the color of the frame. We also have beautiful three panel mantle mirrors with floral crests in lovely colors and finishes. ## Southern Hospitality Greets Guest Group At Missionary Tea

True hospitality of the "Old South" was extended yesterday at the Rev. E. C. Martin home on East Chestnut street when Mrs. Martin entertained a group of members of the Spurgeon Memorial church at a missionary tea.

Artistic decorations of roses and carnations gave added beauty to the home and a delightful fragrance to the air, and the friendly hospitality of the hostess served to give each guest the feeling of being at home.

A short missionary program opened with a scripture reading by Mrs. C. E. Perry after which Mrs. Charles Widney led in prayer. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, gave an interesting and inspiring talk upon the theme of observance of Holy Week and Good Friday.

The social hours following were interspersed with Victrola music and delicious refreshments of home-made cake and ice cream were served. So pleasant was the afternoon that the guests united in wishing that they might soon again meet with Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

French Club Greets Like Organization Of Fullerton

With Fullerton College French club as honored guests, the sister club of Santa Ana Junior college entertained delightfully in the high school music room recently with a program embodying as many foreign touches as possible.

Fleurs de lys nodded in purple clusters in the attractive room and the program opened with the singing of the Marseillaise, national air of France. Following the roll call which added to the program a number of interesting French bits including verses and proverbs, a short play, "La Cigale et la Fourmi" was cleverly given by the Misses Persana Deimling and Ruth Gredis.

Two of the young men of the class followed with a second play, dramatizing La Fontaine's "Le Loup et le Chien," after which Miss Alice Richards told the folktale, "La Diable Dicks." Miss Margaret Wickes, of the music department, gave a charming planologue, "Bonjour ma Belle" followed by Chopin's "Valse Brillantissima." The program was concluded with a one-act play, "Les Martins au Restaurant" in which parts were taken by Miss Maxine Wilson, Miss Eleanor Adams, Overton, Ivan Swanger, George Morrow and Vincent Chamberlain.

Adjoining to the gymnasium upon the invitation of Miss Ida Griset, French club president, an informal evening of games and dancing followed in which members of both college faculties as well as the clubs were joined by a few guests including Mr. and Mrs. Griset, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Deimling and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pavan.

The program at the gymnasium was entirely impromptu and included a pretty quartette number with Jack Langley playing a violin obligato; songs by Miss Alice Richards, piano selections by Miss Ruth Langley and a vocal group by Miss Ruth Frothingham, Spanish teacher.

Important committees whose untiring efforts insured the success of the evening, were the social committee headed by Miss Edith Pavan and the reception committee of which Francis Baker was head, also the reception committee whose members included Miss Lella Watson, indefatigable worker among her pupils in the foreign language department; the Misses Alla Neely, Leah Crane, Lucy McDermott and Susie Temple and Carl Hage, Overton Luhr and Francis Donsen.

Flashes from
Filmland'BOOMERANG BILL' AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

A remarkably human story of a crook with a heart is unfolded in "Boomerang Bill," which shows at the Princess tonight. The picture features Lionel Barrymore.

"Boomerang Bill" is a Chicago gunman hiding in New York because of a crime he has committed in his home city. He meets a girl who wins his love and he resolves to go straight. Bill works honestly until the girl tells him that she must obtain money to send her invalid mother to the country to save her life. Bill, torn between his desire to be honest and his love for the girl, holds up a bank and is captured.

He is sent to prison for a long term and the girl promises to await his release. But another man asks the girl to marry him and promises to take her and the invalid mother to the mountains. Bill insists that she marry the other man.

Here is a dramatic situation of great power. How it works out is as touching and memorable a picture as has ever been seen. Besides Barrymore, the principals in the cast are: Marguerite Marsh, Margaret Seddon, Frank Shannon, Matthew Betts and Miriam Battista.

Theodore Roberts, May McAvoy and Conrad Nagel in a scene from "Grumpy," film which opens five-day engagement at the West End tomorrow.

or two ago. The tendency to put her in roles requiring more emotional ability than comedy talent followed such pictures as "Second Hand Rose" and "Top o' the Morning," in which she proved herself a capable comedienne.

A current tendency in filmdom is to watch closely the selection of vehicles for stars and pay particular attention to the point of whether or not the stories chosen are really fitted to the personality of the players. Stories are not simply bought in a hurry because they have good dramatic points. Their features that present the stars with unusual opportunities are studied.

"A Dangerous Game," the production coming to the Princess theater presents Miss Walton in a story which was considered better fitted to her than any in recent months.

NORMA TALMADGE ON YOST SCREEN SOON.

Norma Talmadge, one of the most popular of the women stars on the screen, will be seen April 3-5 at the Yost theater in her latest offering, "The Voice From the Minaret," declared to be a story of unusual dramatic power. Frank Lloyd directed this First National picture, which was adapted by Frances Marion from Robert Hichens' famous novel.

The action of the tale is laid in London, Bombay, Damascus and the desert, and the production has a pictorial background of striking splendor. The story is a colorfully romantic one, swiftly moving, and nothing has been left undone to make this Norma Talmadge's greatest picture.

Lady Ardenne bears up patiently under his abuse, but the time came when she found she could stand no more and she determined to leave her husband. So she started on her long journey back to England. En route she became acquainted with a son of Britain who was on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. He induced her to change her plans and to accompany him.

They found love in the desert of the East—but not the peace they craved, for the voice of the muezzins, calling the faithful to prayer from the minarets, constantly reminded them of their duty to others. Regretfully, they turned back, to face a series of highly dramatic adventures that nearly brought an end to their lives.

OLD TIME STARS CAST IN "AS A MAN LIVES."

The cast of "As a Man Lives," coming to the Yost April 7, is of interest, particularly to those fans who are faithful to old favorites. Gladys Hulette returns to the screen to play the whimsical heroine and Robert Frazer, rapidly coming to the front of leading men who really act, has a role which affords him excellent opportunities. Frank Losee, for years prominent in pictures, especially those starring Pauline Frederick, plays an unusual character, and Claire Windsor, the screen's most beautiful blonde, who came out of Cawker City, Kan., and captured producers and the public by her beauty and her gifts as an actress, has another society role in "Broken Chains," Goldwyn's production of the Chicago Daily News $10,000 prize scenario, which will be shown at the Yost for the last time tonight. Miss Windsor won a long term contract with Goldwyn through her acting in "Grand Larceny."

"WHAT FOOLS MEN ARE" AT YOST TOMORROW.

"What Fools Men Are," a picture of Eugene Walter's dramatic comedy of a society flapper who wrecks her married sister's home and incidentally starts her maid off on a "flapping" career, comes to the Yost theater tomorrow.

This photoplay is adapted from a new play, "The Flapper," which is to be produced on the stage simultaneously with its appearance on the screen.

"What Fools Men Are" depicts a novel phase of modern life not merely as it is seen in motion pictures. In real life girls like Peggy Kendrick are frequent enough and, for all the world knows, the havoc she creates in the picture is a sad secret in more than one family.

The story is that of an unconventional society girl who accepts presents from her brother-in-law, and when her sister discovers the fact she sues for and is granted a divorce, supposing, of course, that her ex-husband will marry the flapper. But the latter has no idea of falling into plans made for her by another, so she marries a wealthier and freer man. Just to show people that she is not as heartless as they think, she reunites the divorced couple.

The role of the flapper, Peggy Kendrick, is played by Faire Binney. She was chosen from many candidates for the role because she embodies more perfectly than any other actress, the peculiar characteristics of the New York flapper. She is vivacious, charming, mischievous—even devilish. Her dresses are a feature of the picture.

NEWPORT HARBOR YACHTSMEN PREPARE FOR THEIR BIGGEST AND BEST RACING YEAR

Many New Events On Land and Water On Year's Program

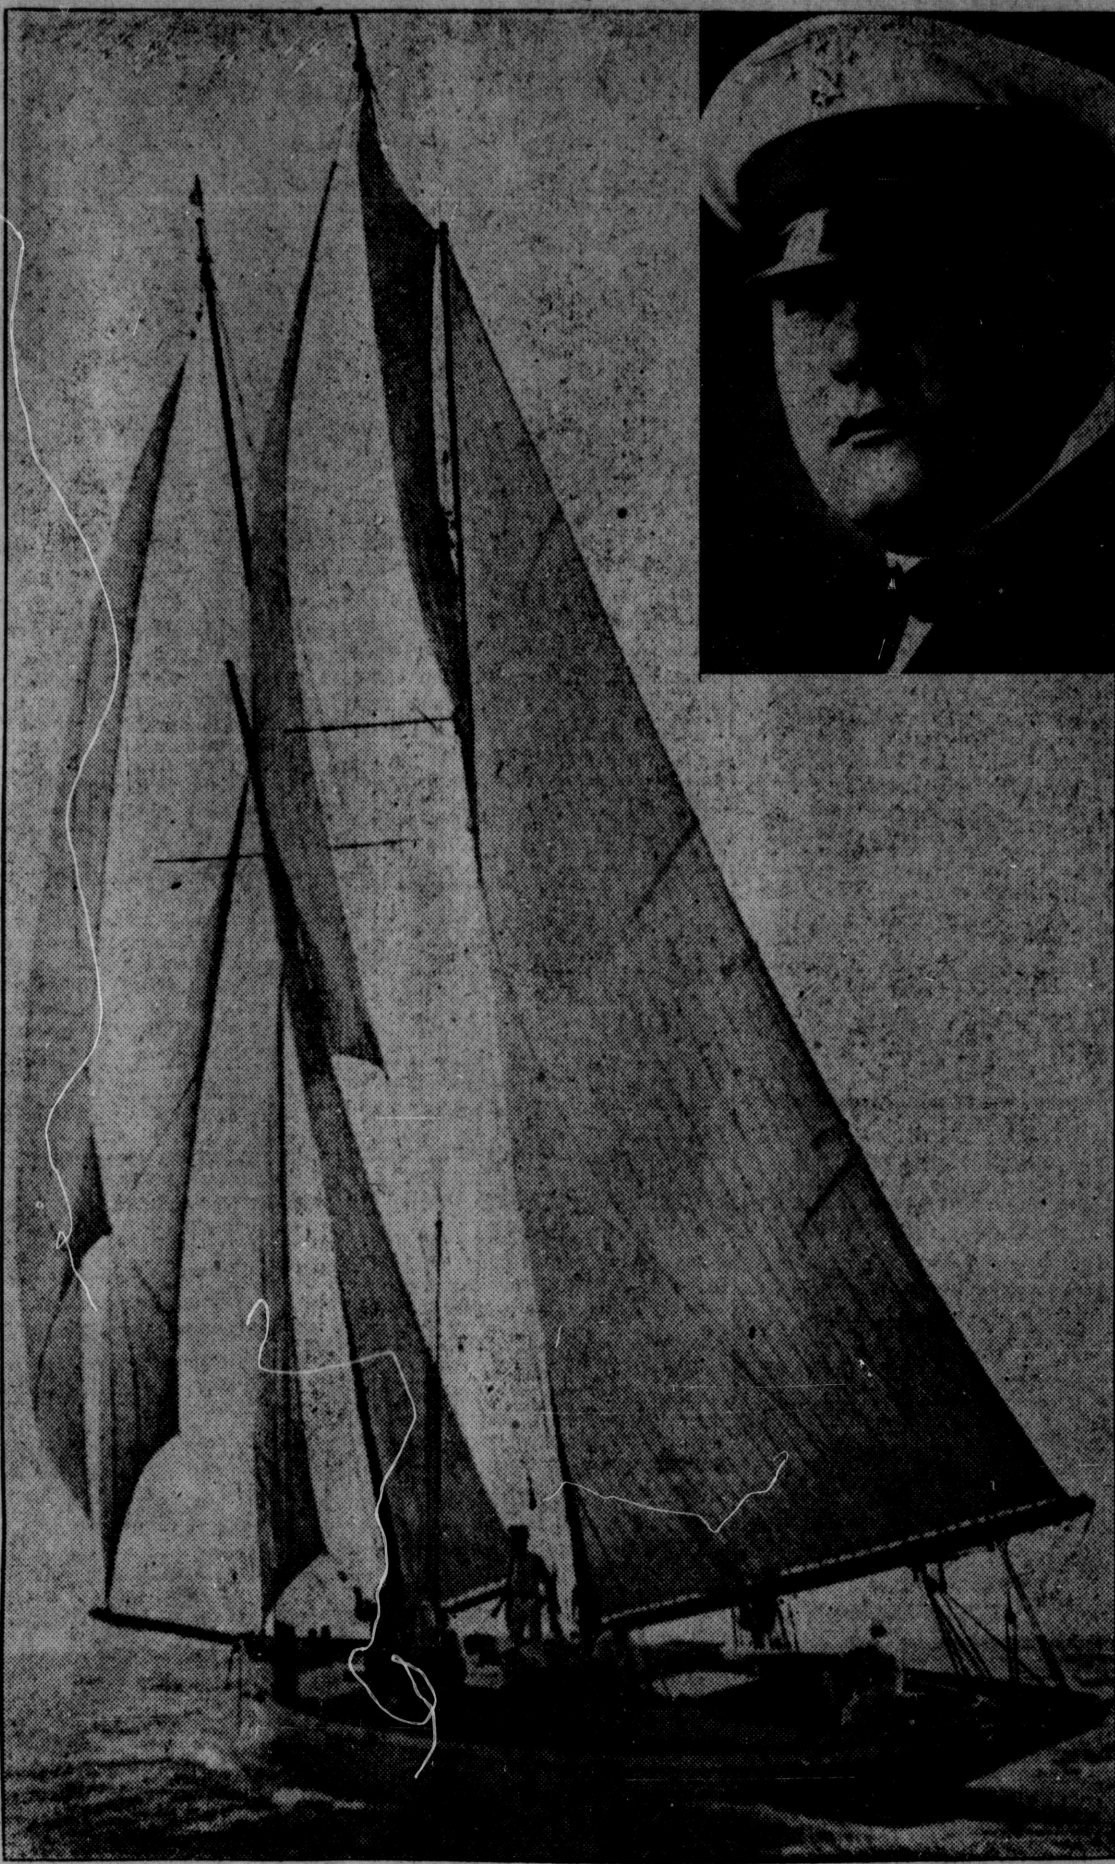

(By Staff Correspondent)
NEWPORT BEACH, March 31.—With the coming of spring the thoughts of yachtsmen turn to racing, to week-end cruises and to regattas where meet the cream of the pleasure boats. Never before has the Newport Harbor Yacht club had before it such a pretentious program as that of 1923, according to Shirley E. Meserve, commodore, who declared that yachting in general in Southern California was approaching its best season.

The Call of the Open Sea
The call of the open sea will have a bigger appeal than ever before. The program of sport and social events has just been completed and is now in the hands of the printers being converted into booklet form. It will go out to members by April 1.

This year the Newport Harbor Yacht club will be much better prepared to play the host to Southern yachtsmen and their ladies. To build a west wing and improve the club house, add new docking facilities and better the present fixtures $12,000 has been raised by selling bonds to club members. This work will have been completed by May 19, when the opening day of the season will see the official inspection of the boats and equipment. The winner will be awarded the Solland prize, awarded each year by Dr. Albert Solland. Representatives from all Southern California yachting associations will be present. The day will be ended with a ball in the evening.

To Visit Ensenada
Again on Decoration day, May 30, the Newport Harbor Yacht club will provide a mecca for the members. A program of general racing has been outlined by the commodore and social activities will attract at the headquarters after the day of sport. On a stag cruise to Ensenada, Mexico, the following two days the club will join the California Yacht club members.

The official visit of the California Yacht club will be made to the Newport club Saturday, June 23, and the next day the race around

The yacht Viking IV in the picture will be one of about twenty boats in the race to Honolulu this year to start from Santa Barbara August 22. The race has not been held since 1915. The Viking IV is owned by Dr. Alfred Solland of the Newport Harbor Yacht club. In the insert is Frank Smith, western vice president of the American Power Boat association which will run sanctioned races at Newport Harbor for the first time this year.

Catalina island will be run. Returning to Newport power and speed boat races will be held under the auspices of the American Power Boat association, of which ex-Commodore Frank Smith is western vice president. The races are the first sanctioned races of the association to be held at the club.

Schedule Rowing Races
July 4 will be the next red letter day on the club's program. As an innovation for the day rowing and outboard races will be held and there will be lots of fun, according to the commodore.

From July 16 to August 22 the Newport members will be guests at Santa Barbara, where the Southern California Yachting association's annual regatta will be held. The regatta will be climaxed with the start of the race to Honolulu, which has not been run off since 1915. Two Newport harbor yachts, the Uncas, owned by John Bowers and Dr. C. N. L. Wilson, and the Viking IV, owned by Dr. Solland, are entered among about twenty others.

August 18 there will be general racing and the official season of the club will be closed Labor day with a brilliant schedule of speed and sport events. The ball in the evening promises to eclipse anything ever held at the clubhouse, it is said.

For owners of larger boats, yachting offers an unlimited volume of adventure. The placid waters of the Pacific will permit a craft of thirty to forty feet to travel down the coast of Mexico and explore the romantic shore line of that fascinating land. The man who has a love for maps and uncharted bays and inlets will find a paradise in a forty or fifty foot cruiser on the seaborne seas of the south.

Racing Popular
The racing side of boating obtains much the same position as automobile racing does to motorists. There will always be a lovely interest in water races. In some parts of the country a determined effort is being made to further popularize racing by inaugurating what is known as "put-put" races, thus increasing the number of participants. A "put-put" race is one wherein the participants use overboard motors on light craft.

Southern California got its first real taste of high speeding last December when Gar Wood brought two of his fast speed boats to the Pacific coast and, incidentally, carried off the honors. In the Catalina race, covering a course of about eighty miles, Miss America won first place, and in the short distance races, Miss Detroit won. In a speed trial after the races Miss Detroit made the remarkable speed of 76.95 miles per hour, the fastest time she had ever made up to that day.

After Speed Laurels
Local power boat fans therefore know what speeding is as well as idyllic cruising. One power boat maker is now constructing a craft which he believes will be the fastest boat on the Pacific coast. Enthusiasm for speed boats as well as slower traveling vessels is just beginning to become general and sportsmen predict many future laurels for the west coast during the coming season.

There will always be a rivalry, no doubt, between sailing craft and power boats, but this rivalry has become an amicable spirit of good sportsmanship which permits a friendly development of yachting. The man who prefers a sloop or schooner will staunchly contend that real sport lies in mastering a sail in a gale, while the power boat enthusiast will declare with equal certainty that a craft which may make progress with or without wind is the true source of delight.

Room For All
But there is plenty of room for both in the Pacific and boating, whether by sheet or motor, will find an ever-increasing patronage.

Time was when yachting and motor boating was considered only as a millionaire's pleasure, but the rapid popularizing of the sport has greatly removed this belief. Yachting and motor boating may be, generally speaking, as expensive as the yachtman wishes to make it. Of course, a hundred foot auxiliary cruiser with two several hundred horsepower engines and elegantly finished in mahogany with a crew of six or eight sailors is a costly proposition, but the optimist may argue with some justification that a man who lacks a whole lot of being a millionaire can have just as much fun with a smaller craft which he has built himself at a cost ranging from five hundred to a thousand dollars, depending upon the amount of work which he does himself and the finish of the boat.

Sundays under his silver with grease and oil on his face. An equally fascinating hobby is boat building. Once a man becomes bitten by the bug, it is only a matter of time until he decides upon a set of blue prints and starts to work under a shelter in his back yard with hammer and saw. He may spend an entire year on the job or he may work during every spare hour and complete the task in a month or so. In either case he is a confirmed fan and talks of nothing but boats.

Prices Moderate
However, it is not necessary for a man of moderate means to become a boat builder to enjoy the pleasure of the sea. Small power yachts ranging from fifteen to twenty-five feet may be purchased at a price which compares favorably with an automobile and, according to the lover of boating, far exceeds the motor car in providing pleasure. The highways and boulevards are crowded and specifically lead the motorist from one point to another. The blue waters of the Pacific are open lanes leading in every direction and there is no such thing as getting into a traffic jam or being halted by a speed cop.

The Pacific, especially in the vicinity of Newport Beach, was aptly named. It is, indeed, a pacific ocean. Uniform weather conditions after the equinoxial storms lends a degree of safety to boating in this vicinity which has no equal anywhere else in the world. The waters off Newport between the coast and Catalina Island are sufficiently calm in the early morning to permit a boat even under twenty feet to make the cruise, according to many enthusiasts.

Word has been received from the Leabetter company, having the contract for the new pier at Newport that the piling for same would be shipped as soon as possible. This pier will replace the present old railroad pier and will cost $60,000. An attractive entrance is being planned, of which the comfort station just voted for will be a part.

At Balboa plans are under way to make a real recreational beach. A pleasure and amusement zone will be established with the addition of a Ferris wheel, a merry-go-round, a real elephant and other play devices, so that in time this beach will be on a par with other resorts on the coast.

NEWPORT BEACH ELATED OVER ELECTION

(By S. A. MEYER)
NEWPORT BEACH, March 31.—Despite the fact that the bonded indebtedness on the city's assessed valuation of four and a half million had nearly been reached, its citizens took another notch in their belts and voted more bonds to aid in the further development of Newport Beach.

$1,200,000 Voted
Inside of two years the city has voted and appropriated over $1,200,000 in public improvements, thereby shaking off a legacy that had been holding back the best beach resort in Southern California for years. Emerging from a slaying village of the old days the city is making so much progress that the old timers are still dazed over it and mournfully shaking their heads over the newfangled changes.

With the voting of additional bonds Thursday three public comfort stations will be greeted. Two of these will be fine large places with ample accommodations for many people. The sum of $800 will be spent at Balboa and $10,000 at Newport for these stations, while $250 will be spent for a smaller one at East Newport. Added to the conveniences already installed it is believed that the additions will care for the public for many years to come.

The voting of comfort stations is a big step forward and gives Newport Beach larger facilities of this kind than any of the beaches in Southern California and is more evidence that the city is determined to forge ahead and become the summer playground of Orange and other counties in fact as well as in name.

Open Balboa Road
Superintendent Heath of the California Construction company, which has the paving contract, has given assurance that a paved road will be open between the Santa Ana river bridge and Balboa by May 1. Half of the stretch from the business section of Newport to the bridge is being paved now and will be completed Saturday night. By the first of the week paving will start from Newport toward Balboa.

At the meeting of the board of trustees Thursday night the question of removing the railroad embankment came up for consideration. Following a conference Wednesday between members of the board and Southern Pacific officials a tentative plan was reached whereby the Southern Pacific has agreed to entertain recommendations to build a combination or union depot for its line and the Pacific Electric, both for passenger and freight service and to establish its depot as near the heart of the business district of Newport as possible. As soon as work on the station is put under way and trackage laid to same, the embankment will be torn down and levelled with the pavement. This will add 100 per cent to the appearance of the city.

Word has been received from the Leabetter company, having the contract for the new pier at Newport that the piling for same would be shipped as soon as possible. This pier will replace the present old railroad pier and will cost $60,000. An attractive entrance is being planned, of which the comfort station just voted for will be a part.

At Balboa plans are under way to make a real recreational beach. A pleasure and amusement zone will be established with the addition of a Ferris wheel, a merry-go-round, a real elephant and other play devices, so that in time this beach will be on a par with other resorts on the coast.

BELIEVE COAST BOULEVARD TO BE FINISHED AS PLANNED

Statement That Work Will Stop at Sunset Beach Unofficial, Claim

ENCOUNTER DIFFICULTY

May Open Talbert Highway In Ten Days as Work Near Completion

With pavement laid on the coast boulevard to Sunset Beach and the right of way graded to a point between Seal Beach and Huntington Beach, statements of a writer in a recent issue of a Los Angeles morning paper, that the state highway commission would complete the boulevard only to Sunset Beach, today seemed to be without foundation.

Highway commissioners, on a recent tour of this district, gave assurance that there would be no interruption in the contract for building the boulevard from Long Beach to Huntington Beach.

The office of J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, has not been advised of a change in the plan of the commission with reference to this particular piece of work.

Believe Facts Twisted

The writer in the Los Angeles paper presumed to speak with considerable authority as to the accuracy of his statement as to the intentions of the state highway commission, but Orange county residents believe that his references to the coast boulevard, so far as they pertain to Orange county, indicate that he is not in close touch with the program of the commission.

It is understood that the contractor on the Orange county section of the coast boulevard is encountering difficulty in grading through the Bolsa Chica Gun club property. The situation seems to be the development of a misunderstanding as to use of materials on the property that is available for grade work.

"Season" Talbert Road. According to an announcement made today by A. B. Smith, assistant superintendent of county highways, there is a possibility that the Talbert highway will be thrown open within the next week.

First Sale of Auto in U. S. Made 25 years Ago This Month

Twenty-five years ago this month the first sale of an automobile in the United States was completed.

Today the automobile is the second greatest manufacturing industry in the country.

Fifty years ago, the automobile was the experiment of a few intrepid inventors.

It was classed by the public with the fancies of Jules Verne, wonderful but impracticable.

The first automobile was built and tried fifty years before the first railroad track was laid.

Captain Nicholas Joseph Guignot is credited with having constructed, in 1769, the first motor-propelled road vehicle that actually ran.

Steam was the force.

In 1787 Oliver Evans, of Philadelphia, built the first American automobile under patent granted by the state of Maryland.

About 1847 Gottlieb, Daimler and Carl Benz began their basic experiments in the field of internal combustion, hydro-carbon motors.

May 8, 1879, George B. Selden, of Rochester, N. Y., filed an application for a patent covering the use of the gasoline motor.

While Carl Benz, of Mannheim, Germany, built the first internal combustion, motor propelled vehicle, in 1885, it was not until 1893 that the automobile, as it is known today, was launched.

Charles E. Duryea and Elwood Haynes are credited with being the first American builders of a car that would run.

YOSEMITE TOURING SEASON OFFICIALLY TO OPEN APRIL 15

The Yosemite touring season will open officially April 15, it was learned here today. The Wawona road to the famous valley will be open by that date, it was predicted, and Camp Curry will also open its doors the same date, according to Managers Don Tresidder and Bob Williams, who recently returned to their offices in San Francisco from a tour of inspection in the valley.

KOREA LICENSE TROUBLE TOLD BY DOCTOR

Former County Resident In Letter Home Bares Red Tape to Drive Car

Securing of a license to operate an automobile in California or the United States is a "snap" as compared with the steps necessary to get permission to operate a car in Korea, according to Dr. Roy Bryam, formerly of Westminster.

In writing to his mother at Westminster, the physician relates some of the features surrounding application for a license in Korea where the former Westminster man now resides.

"Questions are given in oral and written departed learning, according to the language of the examination questions quoted by Dr. Bryam.

"If such an examination were required in the United States there would be fewer automobile drivers," writes Dr. Bryam, who, at the time of writing, was convalescing after an illness. "I took my examination in automobile driving yesterday at the police station.

Begs Off Practical

"I begged off on the practical, since I was afraid that I might get stalled and have to crank up, and I did not feel strong enough to waste energy along this line.

"Arrangements have been made for me to borrow one of the Fords of an automobile stage company and I expect to take the practical examination next week. I cannot guess what antics they will put me through in the demonstration of manipulation and speeds permitted in the streets.

"Here are instructions and questions submitted to an applicant for a license:

"1. Answer the structure of the engine inside and the action of the piston.

"2. Answer the structure of the radiator and the utility of it.

"3. Answer the structure of an electromagnet and the method of handling it.

"4. When the contact breaker got damaged in driving; can it be repaired temporarily, or not? And if the manner is, answer it.

"5. Answer the each speed which can be driven an automobile in a street and on other road; and the rule to drive a corner of

ANCIENT ANAHEIM HACK IS LATEST TO ENTER AUTO RESURRECTION EVENT HERE

Anaheim came rattling into the Auto Resurrection Day races today with an entry from the George Dunton, Ford and Lincoln headquarters in the Mother Colony. This old member of the Ford family was dragged out of the junk yard and is being pepped up for the races. Riding on the hood is Miss Lulu Smith, bookkeeper for the Dunton office. In the driver's seat is N. B. Calvin, manager of the used car department of the agency.

HUGE INCREASE IN CHEVROLET SALES TOLD

Referring to the cry of 1916, that saturation of the automobile market had been reached, or soon would be reached, D. D. Andrews, manager of the Pasheley Motor company, local Chevrolet dealer, today pointed to the big increase in the sale of autos since that time, and declared that the saturation point had not yet been reached.

"The automobile is just as much a necessity today as the telephone, railroads or steamships, and without it the world could not progress," said Andrews. "In February, 1922, there were 4895 cars of all makes sold in Southern California. In February, 1923, the sales mounted to 8804, or an increase of 180 per cent.

"Of the total automobile sales for February, 1923, 70 per cent of the cars sold were in the $1000 class and below; included in this class is the Chevrolet car, with a sales record of 2613 per cent of the total sales of this entire class. Chevrolet also sold one-fifth of all the cars sold in Southern California in February, 1923, which is an increase over last year's sales of 2591.3 per cent.

"The Pasheley Motor company has grown right along with the Chevrolet. Our business this year has increased 253 per cent over last year's sales, and has kept pace with the general increase of Chevrolet sales."

SOUTH AMERICA DASH WON BY STUDEBAKER

A Studebaker Special-Six, driven by William T. Burke, won the Gran Premio de Argentina—South America's most important race of the year—against a field which included some of the world's highest priced cars, according to Potter Bowles, of the Bowles Motor company, Studebaker distributor. This race is an annual event held under the auspices of the Argentine Automobile club.

"This is the second year in succession that Studebaker has raced to victory in the Gran Premio," says Bowles.

"The distance was from Buenos Aires to Rosario and return—about 470 miles—and the winner's time was 10 hours, 45 minutes, 35 seconds.

"Twenty-six cars were entered in the race. The record made by the Studebaker entrants in the race is considered remarkable, in view of the Studebaker victory in 1922 and the rivalry that had developed.

"The race is far more than a test of speed—it is a test of sturdy construction and endurance, especially under such driving conditions as were encountered this year."

L. A. MAN, WITH BIG EXPERIENCE IN AUTO GAME, COMES TO S. A.

A. F. Foerster, Los Angeles, today prepared to transfer his activities to Santa Ana Monday, when he will become manager of the Orange County Haynes company, whose garage is situated at the southwest corner of Main and First streets.

Seven years with the Maxwell Motor company, and for many years with the General Motors corporation, Foerster has had a varied experience in the automobile industry.

In discharge of his duties as a representative of the General Motors, he has traveled in virtually every foreign country in the interest of products of the corporation.

Foerster said that he was delighted at the opportunity to settle in Santa Ana for he had long recognized that it was one of the best business communities in the southland.

SAYS WISE BUYER LOOKS TO DEALER

The wise automobile buyer today is looking past the car and is investigating the dealer who is selling the car, before placing his order, J. W. Tubbs, manager of Reid Motor company, local Buick distributor, declared today.

"There are many good cars on the market, but the best automobile built will not operate indefinitely without adjustments," said Tubbs. "For this reason, the dealer's ability to care for the cars he sells is becoming a large question in the mind of the purchaser.

"Thus, we are on the lookout, constantly, for ways to improve our service department. Work must be done in less time to avoid long lay-ups of cars that are needed. There must be less chance for error, and repair charges must be as low as possible."

DECLARES JEWETT MADE CLAIMS GOOD

Declaring that the Jewett was designed to "Give the public a sturdier, better performing car than it previously had been possible to buy for $1000," D. Z. Smith, sales manager for Edgar and Hays, Jewett agents, today pointed to the sale in the United States of 22,000 cars of that make in nine months as evidence that the Jewett is making good.

Speaking of the new Jewett specials, Smith said that now that the factory is equipped for big production, it is the intention of the management to give the special Jewetts a tailor-made finish and still retain, in the price, most of the savings of quantity production.

Edgar and Hays also distribute the Paige here, and Smith said that the makers of the Paige had made good in their aim to produce a silent motor.

"The new type of chain drive in the front of the motor gives motor silence with satisfaction," Smith said. "Rattles and squeaks have been banished. Many other features make the new Paige a more than desirable car."

BECOMES AGENT OF BRUNSWICK TIRES HERE

Believing that Santa Ana and the south half of Orange county offer a field for a profitable business in wholesale distribution of the Brunswick tire line, Lawrence A. Muckenthaler soon will resign as assistant cashier of the First National bank at Anaheim to open a distributing station in Santa Ana, it was learned today.

He has leased from Fine Brothers the store room at 419 North Broadway, and will install a complete stock of tires and tubes as soon as alterations can be made in the room to adapt it to his purposes. Improvements will include the installation of a modern front work on which began today.

"The Brunswick is one of the best tire lines on the market and is the product of the Brunswick-Balke-Coller company," Muckenthaler said. "With it I see an opportunity to build up a good wholesale business here. The pos-

Despite the fact that entry blanks for the race have not yet been published, the promoters of the event are being showered with demands for blanks by those who expect to enter cars. Virtually every auto agent in Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, Brea and La Habra is combing Southern California in search of cars sufficiently near dead to enter in the event.

Newport Beach, San Juan Capistrano, Babbco, Costa Mesa, Placentia, Tustin and, in fact, almost every locality in the county will be represented at the track when the starter sends the decrepit machines away on their twenty-five mile grind.

Boyd and Henley Ellis, who have been using the 1908 Buick they drove in the Phoenix road races in 1914 and 1915 as a power generator for their windmill, expect to unhook the car from its post of duty early next week and drag it to Santa Ana to have the Reid Motor company give it an injection of pep for the big races.

"Clara Phillips" Entered. The Cadillac Garage company is busy going over the entry of the Orange County Auto Parts & Supply company, 207 North Sycamore street, and expects to get it in running order early next week. This is the car that has been claimed "Clara Phillips". This name was given to the auto because it "hammers a little."

"Spark Plug," the entry of the Cadillac Garage company, is resting in the used car yard of the company and refuses to be interviewed. George ("Barney Google") Martin, Sparky's driver, is also keeping mum regarding his pet's chances in the race.

ENCLOSED CARS IN REACH OF BUYERS

According to Fred Medbery, of Townsend and Medbery, Hudson and Essex dealers here, the time has passed when only wealthy persons give consideration to the purchase of enclosed automobiles.

"It is now quite the proper thing to have an enclosed car and the trend of the times is constantly in this direction," Medbery said. "Once upon a time only wealthy persons could afford enclosed models, but when the many comforts and conveniences of the enclosed car were appreciated by the public, the manufacturers of the more popular-priced machines began to place on the market some extraordinary values in enclosed types.

"The Hudson and Essex coaches are two of the greatest values on the market and are sold at about the same prices obtaining on open models."

SPEED KING IS HERE FOR BIG HILL CLIMB CLASSIC ON APRIL 8

National Champion Steele Arrives Early to Tune Up Fast Mount

COURSE IS READY

Record-Breaking Crowd Is Predicted For Famous Capistrano Event

Orle, Steele, of Paterson, N. J., national hill climb champion, is in Santa Ana.

He is here to defend his title at the Capistrano hill climb Sunday, April 8, one of the biggest annual events in the motorcycle world.

He will contest with some of the crack motorcycle riders of the West.

He rides an Indian motorcycle and will use this mount in the coming event.

Two other riders of repute also are in the city. They are Ed Ryan, of Colorado Springs, and Paul Anderson, of Chicago, two of the five-man team of the Harley-Davidson organization. Both men have been in previous contests at San Juan Capistrano.

Go Into Training. The three experts are here a week in advance of the contest for the purpose of training for the struggle a week from tomorrow.

They will not be permitted to try-out on the course. There are many other locations in the county where there are courses; similar to the one at Capistrano. It is reported that Steele will do his practice work on hills in the vicinity of Olanda.

This will be the first time that Steele has been in action in the West, although he has met and vanquished most of the Western stars in this sport. He won his title last year at Rochester, N. Y., when he competed against a field of seventeen of the best riders in the United States.

Makes Big Record. He made a wonderful record during 1922, winning virtually every hill climbing contest east of the Mississippi. His spectacular winning of the national championship on August 3, last, was his outstanding contribution to the sport for the 1922 season.

According to C. M. Shook, chairman of the contest committee of the Orange County Motorcycle club, it will not be necessary for members of the club to go down

NEWPORT HARBOR YACHTSMEN PREPARE FOR THEIR BIGGEST AND BEST RACING YEAR

Many New Events On Land and Water On Year's Program

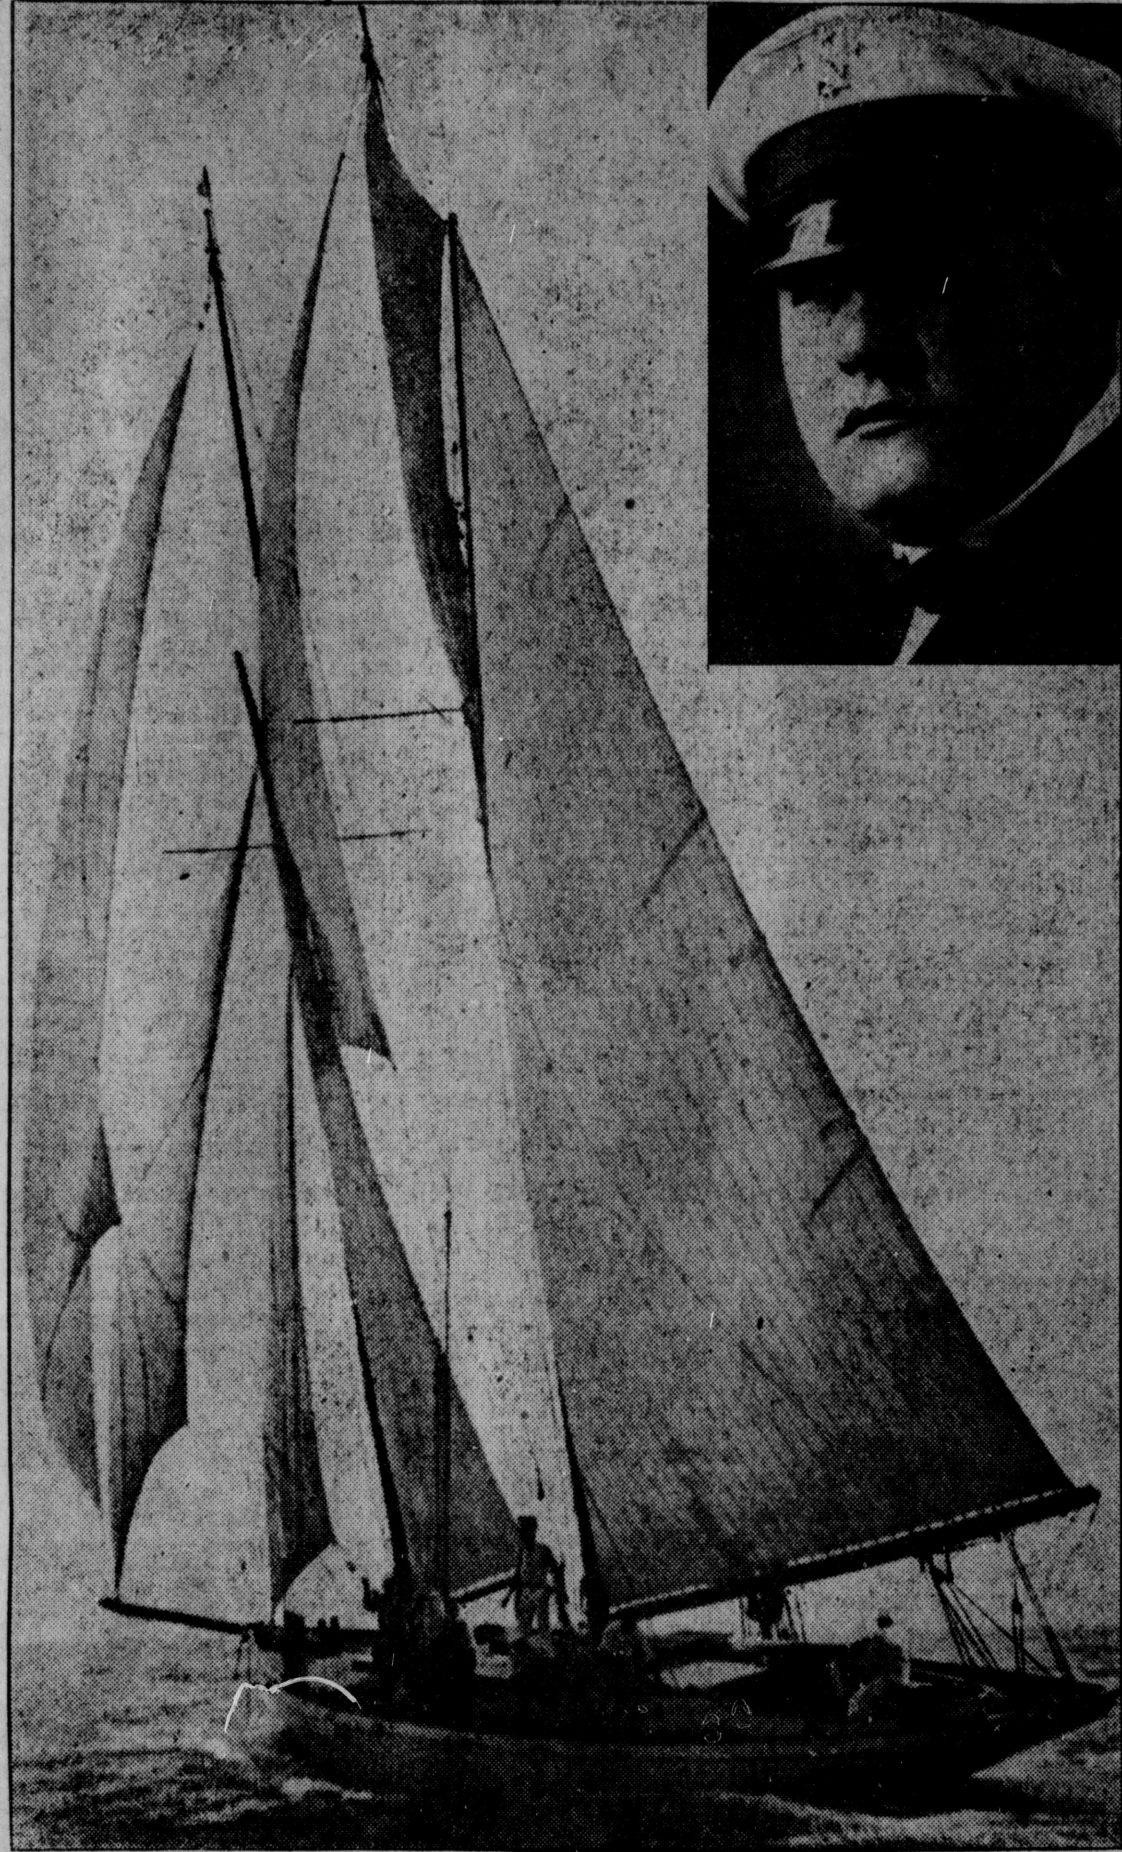

(By Staff Correspondent)
NEWPORT BEACH, March 31.—With the coming of spring the thoughts of yachtsmen turn to racing, to week-end cruises and to regattas where meet the cream of the pleasure boats. Never before has the Newport Harbor Yacht club had before it such a pretentious program as that of 1923, according to Shirley E. Meserve, commodore, who declared that yachting in general in Southern California was approaching its best season.

The Call of the Open Sea
The call of the open sea will have a bigger appeal than ever before. The program of sport and social events has just been completed and is now in the hands of the printers being converted into booklet form. It will go out to members by April 1.

This year the Newport Harbor Yacht club will be much better prepared to play the host to Southern yachtsmen and their ladies. To build a west wing and improve the club house, add new docking facilities and better the present fixtures $12,000 has been raised by selling bonds to club members. This work will have been completed by May 19, when the opening day of the season will see the official inspection of the boats and equipment. The winner will be awarded the Solland prize, awarded each year by Dr. Albert Solland. Representatives from all Southern California yachting associations will be present. The day will be ended with a ball in the evening.

To Visit Ensenada
Again on Decoration day, May 30, the Newport Harbor Yacht club will provide a mecca for the members. A program of general racing has been outlined by the commodore and social activities will attract at the headquarters after the day of sport. On a stage cruise to Ensenada, Mexico, the following two days the club will join the California Yacht club members.

The official visit of the California Yacht club will be made to the Newport club Saturday, June 23, and the next day the race around

The yacht Viking IV in the picture will be one of about twenty boats in the race to Honolulu this year to start from Santa Barbara August 22. The race has not been held since 1915. The Viking IV is owned by Dr. Alfred Solland of the Newport Harbor Yacht club. In the insert is Frank Smith, western yacht club. In the insert is Frank Smith, western yacht club. Catalina island will be run off. Returning to Newport power and speed boat races will be held under the auspices of the American Power Boat association, of which ex-Commodore Frank Smith is western vice president. The races are the first sanctioned races of the association to be held at the club.

Schedule Rowing Races
July 4 will be the next red letter day on the club's program. As an innovation for the day rowing and outboard races will be held and there will be lots of fun, according to the commodore.

From July 16 to August 22 the Newport members will be guests at Santa Barbara, where the Southern California Yachting association's annual regatta will be held. The regatta will be climaxed with the start of the race to Honolulu, which has not been run off since 1915. Two Newport harbor yachts, the Unas, owned by John Bowers and Dr. C. N. L. Wilson, and the Viking IV, owned by Dr. Solland, are entered among about twenty others.

August 18 there will be general racing and the official season of the club will be closed Labor day with a brilliant schedule of speed and sport events. The ball in the evening promises to eclipse anything ever held at the clubhouse, it is said.

For owners of larger boats, yachting offers an unlimited volume of adventure. The placid waters of the Pacific will permit a craft of thirty to forty feet to travel down the coast of Mexico and explore the romantic shore line of that fascinating land. The man who has a love for maps and uncharted bays and inlets will find a paradise in a forty or fifty foot cruiser on the soporific seas of the south.

Racing Popular
The racing side of boating obtains much the same position as automobile racing does to motorists. There will always be a lovely interest in water races. In some parts of the country a determined effort is being made to further popularize racing by inaugurating what is known as "put-put" races, thus increasing the number of participants. A "put-put" race is one wherein the participants use overboard motors on light craft.

Southern California got its first real taste of high speed racing last December when Gar Wood brought two of his fast speed boats to the Pacific coast and, incidentally, carried off the honors. In the Catalina race, covering a course of about eighty miles, Miss America won first place, and in the short distance races, Miss Detroit won. In a speed trial after the races Miss Detroit made the remarkable speed of 76.95 miles per hour, the fastest time she had ever made up to that day.

After Speed Laurels
Local power boat fans therefore know what speeding is as well as idyllic cruising. One power boat maker is now constructing a craft which he believes will be the fastest boat on the Pacific coast. Enthusiasm for speed boats as well as slower traveling vessels is just beginning to become general and sportsmen predict many future laurels for the west coast during the coming season.

There will always be a rivalry, no doubt, between sailing craft and power boats, but this rivalry has become an amicable spirit of good sportsmanship which permits a friendly development of yachting. The man who prefers a sloop or schooner will staunchly contend that real sport lies in mastering a sail in a gale, while the power boat enthusiast will declare with equal certainty that a craft which may make progress with or without wind is the true source of delight.

Room For All
But there is plenty of room for both in the Pacific and boating, whether by sheet or motor, will find an ever-increasing patronage.

Time was when yachting and motor boating was considered only as a millionaire's pleasure, but the rapid popularizing of the sport has greatly removed this belief. Yachting and motor boating may be generally speaking, an expensive as the yachtsman wishes to make it. Of course, a hundred foot auxiliary cruiser with two several hundred horsepower engines and elegantly finished in mahogany with a crew of six or eight sailors is a costly proposition, but the optimist may argue with some justification that a man who lacks a whole lot of being a millionaire can have just as much fun with a smaller craft which he has built himself at a cost ranging from five hundred to a thousand dollars, depending upon the amount of work which he does himself and the finish of the boat.

Sundays under his flivver with grease and oil on his face. An equally fascinating hobby is boat building. Once a man becomes bitten by the bug, it is only a matter of time until he decides upon a set of blue prints and starts to work under a shelter in his backyard with hammer and saw. He may spend an entire year on the job or he may work during every spare hour and complete the task in a month or so. In either case he is a confirmed fan and talks of nothing but boats.

Prices Moderate
However, it is not necessary for a man of moderate means to become a boat builder to enjoy the pleasure of the sea. Small power yachts ranging from fifteen to twenty-five feet may be purchased at a price which compares favorably with an automobile and, according to the lover of boating, far exceeds the motor car in providing pleasure. The highways and boulevards are crowded and specifically lead the motorist from one point to another. The blue waters of the Pacific are open lanes leading in every direction and there is no such a thing as getting into a traffic jam or being halted by a speed cop.

The Pacific, especially in the vicinity of Newport Beach, was aptly named. It is, indeed, a pacific ocean. Uniform weather conditions after the equinoxial storms lends a degree of safety to boating in this vicinity which has no equal anywhere else in the world. The waters off Newport between the coast and Catalina Island are sufficiently calm in the early morning to permit a boat even under twenty feet to make the cruise, according to many enthusiasts.

NEWPORT BEACH ELATED OVER ELECTION

(By S. A. MEYER)
NEWPORT BEACH, March 31. Despite the fact that the bonded indebtedness on the city's assessed valuation of four and a half million had nearly been reached, its citizens took another notch in their belts and voted more bonds to aid in the further development of Newport Beach.

$1,200,000 Voted
Inside of two years the city has voted and appropriated over $1,200,000 in public improvements, thereby shaking off a legacy that had been holding back the best beach resort in Southern California for years. Emerging from a fishing village of the old days the city is making so much progress that the old timers are still dazed over it and mournfully shaking their heads over the newfangled changes.

With the voting of additional bonds Thursday three public comfort stations will be greeted. Two of these will be fine large places with ample accommodations for many people. The sum of $8000 will be spent at Balboa and $10,000 at Newport for these stations, while $2500 will be spent for a smaller one at East Newport. Added to the conveniences already installed it is believed that the additions will care for the public for many years to come.

The voting of comfort stations is a big step forward and gives Newport Beach larger facilities of this kind than any of the beaches in Southern California and is more evidence that the city is determined to forge ahead and become the summer playground of Orange and other counties in fact as well as in name.

Open Balboa Road
Superintendent Heath of the California Construction company, which has the paving contract, has given assurance that a paved road will be open between the Santa Ana river bridge and Balboa by May 1. Half of the stretch from the business section of Newport to the bridge is being paved now and will be completed Saturday night. By the first of the week paving will start from Newport toward Balboa.

At the meeting of the board of trustees Thursday night the question of removing the railroad embankment came up for consideration. Following a conference Wednesday between members of the board and Southern Pacific officials a tentative plan was reached whereby the Southern Pacific has agreed to entertain recommendations to build a combination or union depot for its line and the Pacific Electric, both for passenger and freight service and to establish its depot as near the heart of the business district of Newport as possible. As soon as work on the station is put under way and trackage laid to same, the embankment will be torn down and levelled with the pavement. This will add 100 per cent to the appearance of the city.

Start New Pier
Word has been received from the Ledbetter company, having the contract for the new pier at Newport that the piling for same would be shipped as soon as possible. This pier will replace the present old railroad pier and will cost $60,000. An attractive entrance is being planned, of which the comfort station just voted for will be a part.

At Balboa plans are under way to make a real recreational beach. A pleasure and amusement zone will be established with the addition of a Ferris wheel, a merry-go-round, a real elephant and other play devices, so that in time this beach will be on a par with other resorts on the coast.

BELIEVE COAST BOULEVARD TO BE FINISHED AS PLANNED

Statement That Work Will Stop at Sunset Beach Unofficial, Claim

May Open Talbert Highway In Ten Days as Work Near Completion

With pavement laid on the coast boulevard to Sunset Beach and the right of way graded to a point between Seal Beach and Huntington Beach, statements of a writer in a recent issue of a Los Angeles morning paper, that the state highway commission would complete the boulevard only to Sunset Beach, today seemed to be without foundation.

Highway commissioners, on a recent tour of this district, gave assurance that there would be no interruption in the contract for building the boulevard from Long Beach to Huntington Beach.

The office of J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways, has not been advised of a change in the plan of the commission with reference to this particular piece of work.

Believe Facts Twisted

The writer in the Los Angeles paper presumed to speak with considerable authority as to the accuracy of his statement as to the intentions of the state highway commission, but Orange county residents believe that his references to the coast boulevard, so far as they pertain to Orange county, indicate that he is not in close touch with the program of the commission.

It is understood that the contractor on the Orange county section of the coast boulevard is encountering difficulty in grading through the Bolsa Chica Gun club property. The situation seems to be the development of a misunderstanding as to use of materials on the property that is available for grade work.

"Season" Talbert Road.

According to an announcement made today by A. B. Smith, assistant superintendent of county highways, there is a possibility that the Talbert highway will be thrown open within the next week.

First Sale of Auto in U. S. Made 25 years Ago This Month

Twenty-five years ago this month the first sale of an automobile in the United States was completed.

Today the automobile is the second greatest manufacturing industry in the country.

Fifty years ago, the automobile was the experiment of a few intrepid inventors. It was classed by the public with the fancies of Jules Verne, wonderful but impracticable.

The first automobile was built and tried fifty years before the first railroad track was laid.

Captain Nicholas Joseph Guggenot is credited with having constructed, in 1769, the first motor-propelled road vehicle that actually ran. Steam was the force.

In 1787 Oliver Evans, of Philadelphia, built the first American automobile under patent granted by the state of Maryland.

About 1847 Gottlieb, Daimler and Carl Benz began their basic experiments in the field of internal combustion, hydro-carbon motors.

May 8, 1879, George B. Selden, of Rochester, N. Y., filed an application for a patent covering the use of the gasoline motor.

While Carl Benz, of Mannheim, Germany, built the first internal combustion, motor propelled vehicle, in 1885, it was not until 1893 that the automobile, as it is known today, was launched.

Charles E. Duryea and Elwood Haynes are credited with being the first American builders of a car that would run.

KOREA LICENSE TROUBLE TOLD BY DOCTOR

Former County Resident In Letter Home Bares Red Tape to Drive Car

Securing of a license to operate an automobile in California or the United States is a "snap" as compared with the steps necessary to get permission to operate a car in Korea, according to Dr. Roy Bryam, formerly of Westminster.

In writing to his mother at Westminster, the physician relates some of the features surrounding application for a license in Korea where the former Westminster man now resides.

"Questions are given in oral and written departed learning, according to the language of the examination questions quoted by Dr. Bryam.

"If such an examination were required in the United States there would be fewer automobile drivers," writes Dr. Bryam, who, at the time of writing, was convalescing after an illness. "I took my examination in automobile driving yesterday at the police station.

Begs Off Practical

"I begged off on the practical, since I was afraid that I might get stalled and have to crank up, and I did not feel strong enough to waste energy along this line.

"Arrangements have been made for me to borrow one of the Fords of an automobile stage company and I expect to take the practical examination next week. I cannot guess what antics they will put me through in the demonstration of manipulation and speeds permitted in the streets.

"Here are instructions and questions submitted to an applicant for a license:

"1. Answer the structure of the engine inside and the action of the piston.

"2. Answer the structure of a radiator and the utility of it.

"3. Answer the structure of an electromagnet and the method of handling it.

"4. When the contact breaker got damaged in driving; can it be repaired temporarily, or not? And if the manner is, answer it.

HUGE INCREASE IN CHEVROLET SALES TOLD

Referring to the cry of 1916, that saturation of the automobile market had been reached, or soon would be reached, D. D. Andrews, manager of the Pashley Motor company, local Chevrolet dealer, today pointed to the big increase in the sale of autos since that time, and declared that the saturation point had not yet been reached.

"The automobile is just as much a necessity today as the telephone, railroads or steamships, and without it the world could not progress," said Andrews. "In February, 1922, there were 4895 cars of all makes sold in Southern California. In February, 1923, the sales mounted to 8804, or an increase of 180 per cent.

"Of the total automobile sales for February, 1923, 70 per cent of the cars sold were in the $1000 class and below, included in this class is the Chevrolet car, with a sales record of 261.3 per cent of the total sales of this entire class. Chevrolet also sold one-fifth of all the cars sold in Southern California in February, 1923, which is an increase over last year's sales of 259.13 per cent.

"The Pashley Motor company has grown right along with the Chevrolet. Our business this year has increased 253 per cent over last year's sales, and has kept pace with the general increase of Chevrolet sales."

L. A. MAN, WITH BIG EXPERIENCE IN AUTO GAME, COMES TO S. A.

A. F. Foerster, Los Angeles, today prepared to transfer his activities to Santa Ana Monday, when he will become manager of the Orange County Haynes company, whose garage is situated at the southwest corner of Main and First streets.

Seven years with the Maxwell Motor company, and for many years with the General Motors corporation, Foerster has had a varied experience in the automobile industry.

In discharge of his duties as a representative of the General Motors, he has traveled in virtually every foreign country in the interest of products of the corporation.

Foerster said that he was delighted at the opportunity to settle in Santa Ana for he had long recognized that it was one of the best business communities in the southland.

BECOMES AGENT OF BRUNSWICK TIRES HERE

Believing that Santa Ana and the south half of Orange county offer a field for a profitable business in wholesale distribution of the Brunswick tire line, Lawrence A. Muckenthaler soon will resign as assistant cashier of the First National bank at Anaheim to open a distributing station in Santa Ana, it was learned today.

He has leased from Pine Brothers the store room at 419 North Broadway, and will install a complete stock of tires and tubes as soon as alterations can be made in the room to adapt it to his purposes. Improvements will include the installation of a modern front, work on which began today.

"The Brunswick is one of the best tire lines on the market and is the product of the Brunswick-Balke-Coller company," Muckenthaler said. "With it I see an opportunity to build up a good wholesale business here. The pos-

SAYS WISE BUYER LOOKS TO DEALER

The wise automobile buyer today is looking past the car and is investigating the dealer who is selling the car, before placing his order, J. W. Tubbs, manager of Reid Motor company, local Buick distributor, declared today.

"There are many good cars on the market, but the best automobile built will not operate indefinitely without adjustments," said Tubbs. "For this reason, the dealer's ability to care for the cars he sells is becoming a large question in the mind of the purchaser.

"Thus, we are on the lookout, constantly, for ways to improve our service department. Work must be done in less time to avoid long lay-ups of cars that are needed. There must be less chance for error, and repair charges must be as low as possible."

SOUTH AMERICA DASH WON BY STUDEBAKER

A Studebaker Special-Six, driven by William T. Burke, won the Gran Premio de Argentina-South America's most important race of the year—against field which included some of the world's highest priced cars, according to Potter Bowles, of the Bowles Motor company, Studebaker distributor. This race is an annual event held under the auspices of the Argentine Automobile club.

"This is the second year in succession that Studebaker has raced to victory in the Gran Premio," says Bowles.

"The distance was from Buenos Aires to Rosario and return—about 470 miles—and the winner's time was 10 hours, 45 minutes, 35 seconds.

"Twenty-six cars were entered in the race. The record made by the Studebaker entrants in the race is considered remarkable, in view of the Studebaker victory in 1922 and the rivalry that had developed.

"The race is far more than a test of speed—it is a test of sturdy construction and endurance, especially under such driving conditions as were encountered this year."

DECLARES JEWETT MADE CLAIMS GOOD

Declaring that the Jewett was designed to "Give the public a sturdier, better performing car than it previously had been possible to buy for $1000," D. Z. Smith, sales manager for Edgar and Hays, Jewett agents, today pointed to the sale in the United States of 22,000 cars of that make in nine months as evidence that the Jewett is making good.

Speaking of the new Jewett specials, Smith said that now that the factory is equipped for big production, it is the intention of the management to give the special Jewetts a tailor-made finish and still retain, in the price, most of the savings of quantity production.

Edgar and Hays also distribute the Paige here, and Smith said that the makers of the Paige had made good in their aim to produce a silent motor.

or ten days. Rebuilding of a half mile of boulevard is in progress. The concrete has been poured and has been "seasoning" for some days.

Wells and Bressler, Santa Ana, who have been awarded the contract for rebuilding a mile and a half of the boulevard west of Westminster, are at work now, and it is probable the road soon will be closed to traffic until the job is completed.

With the contract embracing the installation of dirt shoulders, the contracting firm has reversed the usual order in such work by putting in the dirt shoulders before laying the top slab of concrete. It is understood that but for this change the road would have been closed by this time.

To Divert Traffic.

Arrangements are being made to divert to the Garden Grove road traffic from this section to Seal Beach and Long Beach. On this route motorists will have three and a half miles of dirt road to travel, from the west end of the paved section of the Garden Grove highway to the paved road near Los Alamitos.

Traffic to these points from the north end of the county will be routed by way of Lincoln avenue to Cypress and thence to Los Alamitos, the route offering a paved highway all the way.

FORD SALES STILL MOUNTING IN U. S.

According to George Dunton, local distributor for the Ford and Lincoln, 116,080 Fords were sold at retail in February, exceeding January by 15,000 cars.

Pointing out that the February record was made in the face of unfavorable weather, Dunton said it would be exceeded probably by records that will be made in the spring and summer months.

The Santa Ana agency has had a part in making the record and is continuing to pile up sales of the "universal car." Dunton reports recent deliveries as follows:

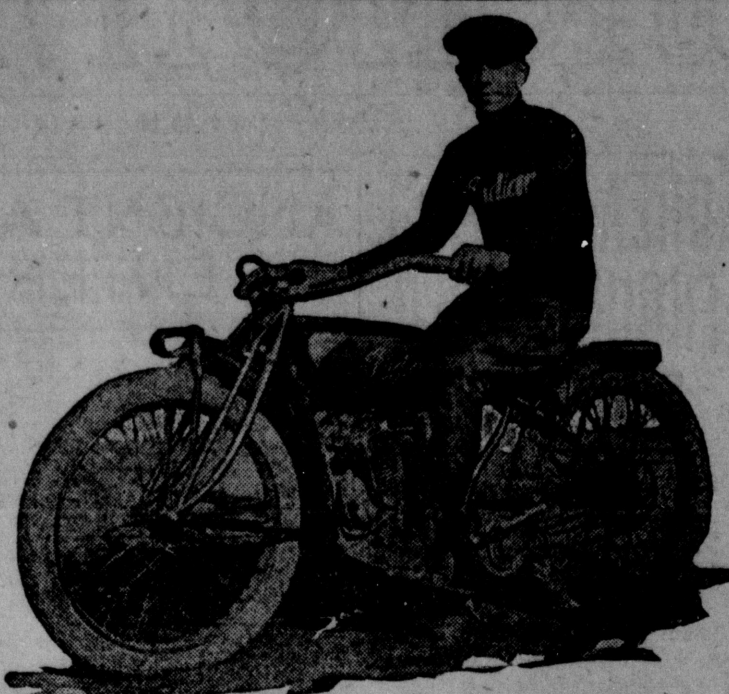

Santa Ana—F. L. Sprinkle and R. R. Peterson, coupes; Arno Tucker, Ford M. Leshner and Will Schuster, touring cars; Fred W. May, John McFadden company, R. L. Noble, J. J. Williams, H. S. Vaughan and P. S. Smith, four-door sedan; R. Valdez, delivery wagon; Homer Collins, Anaheim, coupe; G. V. ## HOME MUTUAL CLOSES 30TH SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS YEAR

With a record of having assisted 1200 persons to build homes and 1000 to buy homes, and with net loans in force totaling $1,145,734, the Home Mutual Building and Loan Association of Santa Ana, today closed its thirtieth year of operation in this city.

Since the association was organized it has loaned nearly $4,000,000 and has made nearly 3000 loans. The first board of directors was composed of John McFadden, president, who served in that position for 22 years and 3 months; Fred Mansur, secretary, who served for 11 years and 9 months; Thomas McKeever, vice president; C. E. Parker, G. A. Edgar, W. B. Tedford, S. H. Finley and W. R. Collis. Thomas McKeever succeeded Mansur as secretary and officiated four years. He was followed by O. M. Robbins, present secretary, who has held the position 14 years and 3 months.

Receipts Increase. Robbins said that receipts of the association last year were more than for the period of the first fourteen years of the organization.

Pointing out that in 1893 the average time for paying off a loan made by the association was 128 months, he said the average now is 75 months. The average loan now is paid off within four years, he said, by reason of transfer of ownership.

In 1893 the average loan was $1050, while in 1923 it is $3000.

Indicating the tendency of the day for husband and wife to take title to property as joint owners, Robbins disclosed that in 1893 the title to 86 per cent of the property offered as security for loans was vested in the husband, while in 1923 16 per cent is so vested.

Joint Ownership Gains.

In the first year none of the security was held jointly. Today 82 per cent of the property is under joint ownership. In 1893 ownership by the wife was 14 per cent, today it is 2 per cent. Joint ownership increased from nothing in 1893 to 20 per cent in 1908 and from the latter year to the present to 82 per cent.

The association has issued term investment notes, which draw 6 per cent per annum, to the amount of $657,883, of which $525,568 belongs to Santa Ana residents and $132,315 to non-residents. The proportion of the latter is 20 per cent.

Installment stock has been issued to the number of 8359 shares, 6351 of which are owned in Santa Ana and 2008, or 24 per cent, by non-residents. According to Robbins, more than 20 per cent of all money loaned belongs to non-residents.

101 Original Stockholders.

The 101 original stockholders in 1893 took out 627½ shares, the income from which for the first nine months was $734.10. Some of the original members of the association who are living here and many of whom still have stock, are G. A. Edgar, W. B. Tedford, J. T. Ralitt, C. E. Parker, Ed Waite, E. A. White, Mit Phillips, Col. S. H. Finley, William McCulloch, J. B. Joplin, W. R. Yost, George Spangler, C. P. Kryhl, Frank Vegely, N. L. Galbraith, George S. Smith, F. W. Harding, L. Baade, G. L. Wright, Z. B. West, W. A. Huff, Dr. C. D. Ball, M. L. Lane, Dr. J. B. Boyd, Thomas McKeever (Los Angeles), Horace Fine, C. F. Grim (Anahelm), Harry Dean (Los Angeles), and W. S. Whitney.

The present officers and board of directors are P. B. Beissel, president; E. B. Sprague, vice president; O. M. Robbins, secretary; Miss Doris Robbins, assistant secretary; G. M. Kryhl, N. A. Beals,

OIL COMPANY WILL ENLARGE S. A. PLANT

Vacating its present location at the Santa Fe tracks, the Ventura Supply company, distributing agent of Ventura Oil company products in Orange county, today was preparing to move its headquarters to the corner of East First and Evergreen streets, according to Ralph Mosher, general manager.

Part of the property the supply company is to occupy was leased heretofore by the Powers Manufacturing company, now located at 124 Hathaway street.

The Ventura Supply company, because of growth of its business, has leased the entire property covering a footage of 125x250, Mosher said.

"The move means strenuous methods of doing business for the next month or two," he explained. "We must move and continue to do our business at the same time."

"Our old quarters became too small for us. In the new location we will double our capacity. We will have storage for ten carloads, and a spur specially built connecting us with the Southern Pacific system."

"We handle gas, oil and all petroleum products of the Ventura Oil company in a wholesale way, and intend to branch out into the retail business shortly."

BOOSTS SOLDIER LAWS

Legislation favorable to soldiers will be adopted by the present legislature, in the opinion of Maurice Enderle, deputy county assessor, who was home today from Sacramento, where he attended a meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion. While in the capital city Enderle discussed with legislators soldier legislation concerning exemptions and aid.

R. S. Gregory, J. C. Horton, W. E. Winslow.

"The Santa Ana association is strictly a mutual organization," said Robbins. "Under the laws of California, building and loan associations can issue a guarantee stock (usually held by a favored few) which can receive a larger percentage of the earnings than that paid to other stockholders. This bonus, in an association of the size of the Home Mutual, could be as much as $11,000 annually, and would be of no practical benefit to the association or other of its members. In our association, each stockholder receives the same rate of earnings."

"All loans are made on a conservative valuation of properties, therefore it is not necessary to pay $11,000 annually to the favored few for ostensibly guaranteeing the loans. Under the laws of the state, a certain percentage of the earnings are set aside as a reserve."

Reserve Now $40,000.

"This reserve is now $31,000, which, with the valuation of the office building, carried on the books at $16,617.53, but which is worth at least $40,000, makes a reserve of over $50,000, at no cost to the association."

"The last report printed by the state gives figures showing that the guarantee stock of that type of associations is receiving 10.3 per cent per annum, while the installment stock receives but 6.5 per cent."

"The investor in installment stock of the Home Mutual and Building Loan association pays no membership fee. Some associations charge $1 per share, which goes to solicitors and which is a loss to the investor. The borrower pays no commission or office fee to get his loan. Some associations charge 2 per cent."

STRICKEN ORPHANS GET WOMEN'S AID

Fifty leading American women, representing more than twelve million clubwomen, under the leadership of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, former president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, have organized the National Woman's Committee of the Near East Relief to aid orphan children of the Levant, according to word received by W. B. Tedford, treasurer Santa Ana Near East Relief committee.

These women are enlisting their groups with their millions of members in the cause of the child victims of past and present Near Eastern deportations, particularly the recent unparalleled force flight of two million Christians from Anatolia and Thrace. It is to save these children, scores of whom are dying daily in pestilential, overcrowded refugee camps in Greece and Syria, that the women are appealing to the nation at this Easter season.

The California members of the committee include: Mrs. Eva J. French, national president, Ladies of the G. A. R.; Mrs. George Maynard Minor, president general, Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. Milbank Johnson, outstanding California woman; and Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, former president, General Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Cowles, with residence at 1101 West Adams street, Los Angeles, has been appointed to address an appeal for funds to the women of Southern California.

BOXES OF GOLD

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1922, by E. Phillips Oppenheim

Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc.

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Janet becomes Sayers' wife and accomplice. Michael plots to rob two men, Gorty and Metzger, of seven boxes of gold brought into England to establish private credits. Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Miguel assist Michael. During the absence of Gorty, Madam de Miguel entices Metzger to her room where Michael renders him unconscious. The gold is substituted for their luggage and the de Miguels leave for parts unknown.

Gorty puts Greyes on the trail of Michael and Sir Norman has a lady operative shadow the criminal.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Sir Norman Continues: "You are satisfied?" my companion asked.

"Perfectly," I assured her. "I am going to run no further risk of being recognized. I shall pay the bill and go. You will remain. Remember, it is the woman you must watch. Engage as much help as you require. She must be watched unceasingly."

My companion nodded. "It will not be difficult," she said.

I took my departure, and at this stage of my search for the missing gold, I took Rimmington into my confidence. He agreed with me as to the advisability of allowing Michael to remain at large for the present; and so far as he was concerned, he satisfied himself with placing a st. watch upon the house in Adam Street where we had located him. I myself retired a little into the background, although I remained in the closest touch with Miss Weston. Her information was always interesting, always suggestive. The whole scheme gradually unwound itself.

"One of the out-porters at Waterloo," he announced, "seems to remember a small furniture van backed up against the pavement some distance away from where the majority of the taxicabs were unloading."

"He didn't notice the name on it, I suppose?" I added.

"No such luck! There's another thing, though. One of the old hands there told another of my fellows that he noticed several porters about, that night, whose faces were quite unfamiliar to him and whom he has not seen since. The driver of the bus from the Milan insists upon it, as you remember, that Madam de Miguel pushed away the first porter who accosted them, and insisted upon employing two of her own choosing."

"We have got so far, then," I pointed out, recapitulating items of information which had been brought us. "This pretended South American and his wife drove up to Waterloo with three heavy cases. They were met there by confederates dressed in the uniform of railway porters, who probably took the boxes to the station, and choosing their opportunity, brought them out again and got them into the furniture van. The inference is that the gold is still in London. To proceed: What have we learned about Janet? She is staying in a boarding-house in the Cromwell Road, frequented by artists. She spends an hour or two every day at the South Kensington Museum, studying statuary. It is exactly four days since she brought a little specimen of some sort to Michael, something that, unless I am mistaken, was of considerable weight, for I noticed that her handbag sagged as she walked up to the restaurant. Further—"

The telephone bell rang. I recognized Miss Weston's voice at the other end. I listened to what she had to say, and in ten minutes we were in my car and on the way to Twickenham. We picked up Miss Weston herself in Kensington.

"The woman whom I have been following," she announced, "is only a few minutes ahead of us. She is in a private car, and there is a strange man seated in front with the chauffeur."

"It looks well," Rimmington admitted. "Our friend has ordered the same table for dinner tonight at Romano's."

On our way I had a moment of uneasiness. A gray touring-car passed us at a great speed and shot down the Brentford road, considerably ahead of us. Rimmington spoke for a moment through the tube, and we pulled up at the district police-station.

"We've given Michael rope enough," he decided. "He may get the alarm at any moment now. I'm going to have him arrested."

I drew a little breath. It was hard to think that I should not be present at the end for which I had worked so zealously, but I realized the risk of letting him remain at large any longer. I waited while Rimmington entered the police-station and spoke to headquarters. When he returned, he brought with him a couple of plain-clothes men, one of whom sat in the front and the other with us.

"There will probably be half a dozen of them," Rimmington pointed out, "and from what I know of the gang that Michael generally employs, there may be a little trouble. We'll leave Miss Weston in the car."

We turned off the main road at Twickenham, and finally stopped before the gates of a large, old-fashioned villa, badly out of repair and apparently empty. The grounds sloped down to the river, and the gates were padlocked. We climbed over, leaving Miss Weston behind. She detained us for one moment.

"The house is called the Sanctuary," she said. "Goodson, the sculptor, lived here once."

We hurried off. The place showed every sign of desolation, but there were marks of recent wheels upon the avenues, and as we turned the last corner we saw a thin cloud of smoke curling upward from a long range of out-buildings which looked like a sort of annex to the kitchen. Rimmington quickened his pace. We all broke into a run. We avoided the front door, with its flight of stone steps, and went straight for the building which we now perceived to have been the studio. The door of a long outbuilding stood open. We paused to look inside. There was a furniture van there, and inside, some clothing of rusty corduroy. The uniforms of the pseudo-porters at Waterloo were accounted for.

Entrance to the studio itself was gained by means of a stout oak door, obviously barred and bolted. We went round to the back, crossing a lawn where the grass and weeds were up to our knees. We failed to discover any other door, but somehow or other we found our way through a smashed window into the great room with its dome-shaped ceiling. I think, even as we entered, we realized that we were too late.

The place was empty. A small forge was burning; there were several strange-looking vessels lying about the floor; the cofters, covered only by a piece of matting which Rimmington kicked aside, were ransacked against the wall. There was not a sound to be heard, but the place smelled of tobacco smoke, and indeed there was a faint cloud of blue smoke still hanging about the roof.

"We've lost them!" Rimmington muttered.

"We have the gold, though," I reminded him.

"And Michael, I trust," was the fervent rejoinder.

We searched the house, which was empty and desolate. Then we sent to the local police-station and arranged for the gold to be removed. Afterward we called on the house agent. He made a little grimace when we mentioned the Sanctuary.

"Thought I'd let it to a lady sculptor," he declared. "She paid for the house for a month, to see whether she could work there—wanted to do her own casting or something."

"She paid you for the month, I hope?" Rimmington inquired.

"Oh, she paid that, all right," the agent replied. "I wish these old places were all pulled down. They're more trouble than they're worth."

"Did the lady bring you any references?" I asked.

"I didn't ask for any," the house agent replied frankly. "I was only too glad to get anyone even to talk about the property. Besides, the lady put the money down."

"Nevertheless," Rimmington said quietly, "as a person who has had some experience in these matters—I am Inspector Rimmington of Scotland Yard—I should advise you to be a little careful how you deal with these large, old-fash-

NEW CHANDLER LUBRICATION IS SIMPLE

Lubrication is reduced to its simplest terms in the new Chandler, according to L. E. Carpenter, Chandler and Cleveland agent.

"The day when one has to crawl under the car to drain the crankcase or to reach a grease cup is past, so far as owners of the car with the new Pike's Peak motor are concerned," says Carpenter.

"The engine can be drained without even soiling one's hands. Draining the crankcase at regular intervals is a practice that always has been recommended by manufacturers. It is especially important during the early life of the car. Yet few owners in the past have carried out this draining program, because of the difficulty and messiness of the job. It involved the removal of a threaded plug from the bottom-most part of the crankcase. One had to get under the car, on his back, screw out the plug, and then attempt to avoid the released flood of muck and oil, sometimes uncomfortably hot if the engine had been running."

"With the Pike's Peak motor, the owner will have no reluctance to undertake this important operation. A valve at the bottom of the crankcase permits the oil to drain off, and the handle for operating it is under the hood. Turning a large wing nut opens the valve. As the hood must be raised anyway to put in new oil, even this slight effort cannot be counted against the draining operation."

MILEAGE BASIS PLAN OF OAKLAND IS TOLD

How long should a motor car run without repairs or replacement?

"It is not possible to answer this question in one sentence," says D. Z. Smith, salesmanager for Edgar and Hays, local Oakland agents, "but the Oakland Motor Car company has formulated a plan—the mileage basis plan—whereby a motorist does know exactly how long each vital part of the car's mechanism will function without adjustment or repair, under ordinary care."

"Although the plan is given in 'mileage,' it can be likewise translated into terms of years for the benefit of those who judge the age of their motor car in years rather than miles."

loned houses. In the present case you may be interested to know that the little forge in the studio at the Sanctuary has been used for the purpose of melting down Russian gold.

"God help us!" the agent cried. "What, the Gorty and Metzger gold?"

"Precisely," Rimmington acquiesced. "They've only got rid of a little of it, as it happens, but to judge from the preparations, they were going into it more extensively in a day or two."

We drove back to London, and I followed my friend into his private room with a rare thrill of excitement. I saw his face grow white and stern as he listened to the report of the man who rose to meet him. Then he turned a disconsolate face to me.

"The rooms in Adam Street are empty," he said. "Stanfield has not visited the British Museum to-day. We've lost him again! I ought to have known better," he added bitterly, "than to have let him remain at liberty for a single moment."

"And the woman?" I asked, a little nervously.

Rimmington shook his head.

"We don't want her," he said. "She's just the decoy who may some day whistle her mate to his cell. It's a knock for us, Greys. Neither De Miguel nor his wife nor Michael Sayers!"

"But we have the gold," I reminded him once more.

"Damn the gold!" Rimmington retorted profanely.

But Gorty thought otherwise. So, when he recovered consciousness, did Metzger.

POLY SLUGGERS HAMMER TWO ORANGE
HURLERS FOR LEAGUE OCTOBY, 15 TO 4

Pounding one chucker off the hill in two rounds and punishing a second severely, Coach Orion Neff's Santa Ana high school baseball team yesterday afternoon emerged from its slump and in a wave of slugging defeated the Orange high school club here 15 to 4. The fray was a regular Orange league game.

Coach Davis of the visitors started Krueger on the slab but a trio of markers in both the first and second frames cooked his eyes. Charlie Johnson then took up the burden but he fared as badly, the Poly swatters nicking him for nine runs and ten hits during the remainder of the session.

"Barny" Le Bard went the entire route for Santa Ana and the husky little right hander was in great form. He allowed only five hits and three runs, and fanned nineteen of Davis' hitters, an average of better than two to an inning.

Score Three in Opener. Krueger had nothing but a prayer and a glove when he climbed the mound and Neff's band got to him without ceremony. Brown led off with a torrid rap down the first base line. Finley muffed and he and Brown worked the double steal while Bickford was hitting the air. Jabs smashed a triple to right clearing the paths. Jabs tallied on Coffman's infield out.

With two away in the second spasm, Brown walked, stole and scored on Finley's bingle to right. Bickford sent Finley to third with a dandy double to left and both men counted when Jabs poled another three-bagger over Showalter's berry.

That was enough agony for Davis, and after Krueger had retired his side he lifted him in favor of Johnson, the football hero. Johnson got by the third canto but ran into plenty of grief in the next two rounds.

Add Two in Fourth. Brown walked in the fourth and piled up at third on Finley's blow to right. Finley stole second. Bickford lifted a fly to Showalter. Brown scoring after the catch. Finley made for third and when Brubaker allowed Showalter's toss to elude him, the Poly third sacker completed the journey around the bases. The rest were easy outs.

Luck doubled to start the fifth and scored on Golden's rap to center. Howell, Brown and Finley retired. The Poly swatsmiths batted clear around in the sixth although all of the blame was not due to Johnson's hurling. Bickford led off with an infield single and pilfered second. Jabs reached first on an error by Bush. Bickford taking third. Jabs stole second. Shortstop Bush then muffed Coffman's grounder. Bickford tallying and Jabs moving to third. Coffman stole second. Le Bard's single to center scored Jabs and Coffman. Le Bard stole.

Brown managed to retire Luck and Golden but Howell got to first on Bush's third error of the inning. Le Bard scoring. "Chick" Brown shot one of Johnson's slants through the left field fence for a homer. Howell preceding him across the pan. Finley and Bickford got on but Showalter nabbed Jabs' long drive to center. Showalter's home run over the left field wall was responsible for three of the Orange runs. This swat came in the seventh with two on the bags. The other Orange marker came in the fourth as a result of Howell's error on a single to right by Bush.

Big League Clubs Ready for Season

Spring Training Practice In South Is Devoted To Exhibitions

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 31.—That part of the spring training which consists merely in getting ready for exhibition games, has been finished and most of the league clubs are getting ready to move northward.

Since spring training in these commercial days seems to be for the primary purpose of preparing for exhibitions, most of the teams might be considered to be ready to start the season now.

Reports from the south indicate that John McGraw has his New York Giants in splendid condition to go after their third successive pennant and they may be in better shape than any of their rivals to get away to a good start.

Giants Fortified. The Giants are well fortified with reserve material and McGraw is in a position to worry less about accidents, and breaks than any other pilot in the National league. Reports from the training camp of the Cincinnati Reds indicate that Pete Donahue, Pat Moran's young right hander, is in great form and that means much to the pennant chances of the club.

The Reds did an unusual thing for a major league club by spending $5,000 last winter to get Donahue in condition. Last year he was in poor health and at the end of the season the club physician said he was "wasting away." Gary Herrman then offered to pay his expenses for a "roughing exhibition in the north and Donahue came out of it thoroughly recovered.

Claim Threats Idle. Threats have been made that something will be done to keep Moran from using "Rube" Benton next season but they are considered idle inasmuch as Commissioner Landis has given him permission to play and any move to get over the ruling of the commission will not get very far as he has the best word.

All of the American league contenders are in good shape with the exception of the New York Yankees. Bad weather encountered in New Orleans by the American league champions, set Miller Huggins weeks back in his work and imposed a heavy handicap on the team. The long exhibition series with the Brooklyn Robins may work the team around in shape but two weeks of overnight jumps isn't the most approved method of getting players in shape.

King Christian, of Denmark, who measures nearly seven feet is known as the tallest monarch in the world.

Unlike their American sisters, Japanese girls are not permitted to sit with a man in a moving picture theater.

MERCHANDISE WHEEL PAID REAL "GOODS" POLICE CHIEF SAYS

HUNTINGTON PEACH, March 31.—After Chief of Police Jack Tinsley stood and watched Sam Coomas, 36 years old, said to be a resident of Los Angeles, operate what Coomas described as a "merchandise wheel" last night at the carnival here, he arrested the operator and lodged him in the city jail on a charge of running a gambling device. Tinsley said that the merchandise consisted of coins. Coomas posted $25 to appear for trial today.

Other than the arrest of Coomas, the chief of police said that the carnival had been very orderly and that the management had co-operated to prevent violation of state and city laws.

EVENING SALUTATION

He stands and calls beside our path, our door;
Weary and spent He comes, His wound He bares,
And bends on us His deep, appealing eyes,
Which, voiceless, find a voice, and speak and say,
"Tis I who call thee, child—wilt thou obey?"
—Susan Coolidge.

HE CAME TO SAVE THE WORLD

Easter commemorates the resurrection of Christ from the sepulchre. It comes in the spring, when everywhere about us the spirit of resurrection is symbolized by nature. It should suggest to every one of us that this is the time for the resurrection of our spiritual natures.

The church is the open door to realization of resurrection. It stands waiting to develop us spiritually.

Easter, today, means a great deal more than it has ever meant. In keeping with the progress of Christianity, this great day means more to the world than it has ever meant; it means more to each of us than, perhaps, we have realized.

Christ came to this earth, and lived, and died, and arose from the dead, for a purpose. He came to save the world.

Easter, more than any other day in the year, typifies the depth of the love, the completeness of the purity, the sacredness of the purpose, of Christ.

And on this day, more than upon any other day of all the year, our minds ought to be occupied with the essentials of Christ's coming, with the essentials of religion, with the essentials of Christlike living.

If we but comprehend the meaning of Christ arisen, we will know that small controversies in religious beliefs are swept aside. We will feel and know that religion is not a mere matter of differences of opinion but that religion is a great force in human existence to be applied in a sacrificial manner to the great problems of the world, with Christ's ideals of fellowship, and peace, and righteousness as the stars that guide us.

SIGNIFICANCE OF EASTER EGG

The egg has from the remotest ages been regarded as the symbol of creation or new birth, and all the ancient religions possessed ceremonies in which the egg figured in this emblematic sense. The Christians adopted it as the symbol of the resurrection of Christ and, in the early ceremonies, it was colored red in allusion to His blood shed for sinners on the cross.

Through the centuries since the beginning of Christianity various games and contests have been played everywhere in Christendom in which the egg held a prominent part. This was an accompaniment of and a growth from the significance of the Easter egg.

BIBLE FILM CENSORSHIP

The National Motion Picture League, which is recognized as having done much good work in raising moral standards in the movie industry, arouses considerable wonder when it comes to apply its standards to Holy Writ. It approves of current "church films" on general principles, as calculated to have a good effect on public morals. But when it comes to the Cain and Abel film in the Holy Bible Series, it reports as follows:

"Biblical story as told in Genesis IV. The following elimination is suggested: Scenes of Cain hitting Abel on the head and killing him."

This recommendation rather staggers Bible students as well as movie patrons. The idea seems to be that the fact of murder being committed in the family of Adam and Eve should be merely intimated in the most delicate and roundabout way, instead of being depicted with the vividness of the Bible narrative.

Perhaps Genesis is in bad taste. Or perhaps this particular story, related so many thousand times with such telling effect to Sunday school pupils or to children at their mother's knee, tends to inspire murderous thoughts in the young. A mere parent would never have thought of that.

THE BIGGEST DEFICIT

The United States, with an estimated deficit of about $150,000,000 for the present fiscal year, has nothing to worry over. Germany's deficit is 7,100,000,000,000 (seven trillion, one hundred billion) marks.

That number of paper marks, placed end to end, would probably reach to the Milky Way. It is truly a deficit of cosmic proportions. And the total debt piled up by Germany is of far more fantastic size. On paper, Germany owes more than the whole earth would bring at a planetary auction.

Neither admiration nor pity is called for, however. Germany complains that she was forced to start inflating her currency, and that having once started, she could not stop. England and America never started. France and Italy started it, but stopped in time to save off financial ruin.

Russia has been the German model in finance. The Soviet government recently started deflating its currency by lopping off six ciphers from every paper note. The German government might make a new beginning by doing likewise. Deflation will have to come sometime, if Germany expects to continue in business as an organized nation.

SOCIALISM IN ENGLAND

The resolution in support of which Philip Snowden made his big Socialist speech in the House of Commons the other day reads as follows:

"That in view of the failure of the Capitalistic system, this House declares that a legislative effort should be directed to the gradual supersession of the Capitalist system by an industrial and social order based on public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production and distribution."

This was a daring proposal to commit the British government officially to the Socialist program. Naturally it failed, though its champion was given a respectful hearing. Great Britain, seeing what has come from Lenin's application of Marxism, is not likely to declare for that doctrine. Capitalism, with all its admitted imperfections, is seen to have succeeded better than any other system yet tried, and

Yet it is illuminating to read that resolution over carefully with a view to seeing just what its acceptance by the British Parliament would mean. It might mean far less change, in the supposedly conservative British Isles, than the proposer himself imagines.

The Fabian Socialists, by avoiding the name "Socialism" in the last 25 years have won victory after victory for "the gradual supersession of the Capitalist system by an industrial and social order based on public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production and distribution." There is not much public ownership, but an immense and increasing amount of democratic public control over property, wages and living and working conditions.

Favors Bifurcated Session

Stockton Independent.

The State Senate has voted down a resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to do away with the bifurcated legislative sessions.

The two-term session, with intervening recess of a month has been quite generally criticized by press and legislators, but it is very doubtful if there ever will be a return to a single continuous session.

A reluctance to take what might seem to be a "backward step" will operate strongly against a change. Natural inertia likewise is against doing anything about it. Which means chiefly that the question is not important enough for a real issue.

While the two session legislature has never fulfilled the expectations of its ardent advocates and while it is costly and breaks into the orderly progress of routine legislation, it has certain advantages which normally offset its disadvantages and it has potential uses which well justify a continuance of the system.

On the King tax fight of two years ago the administration went to the people on the issue of corporation taxation and it is conceded that it was this act that produced the necessary votes in the second half.

This year the opposition went to the people on the budget. With what result yet remains to be seen. It is easily conceivable that a still greater issue in fundamental policy may arise and an appeal to public opinion during the legislative recess could easily be determined.

The divided session is worth keeping.

The Teaching Tradition

Vernal Delta.

A young woman, a college graduate, who tried teaching before she took up her present occupation as head of a city branch of the Travelers' Aid society, speaks of her teaching years thus:

"Teaching was a tradition in my family and all my ancestors would have turned in their graves if I had not tried it, but I soon decided that they would rise up if I continued, for teaching was not my vocation."

That tells one of the ancient reasons for the choice of teaching by many young women. Tradition required girls to take up teaching. It was a refined and genteel profession, even when it didn't pay as well as it ought to.

The present day tendency for young women to try everything but teaching when they seek to make their own way in the world is a good thing for the profession. Teaching is tremendously important work. It needs fine, clear-thinking, well-trained men and women with the ability to stimulate the thinking processes of pupils as well as to impart knowledge to them. It needs men and women who like the work and believe in it, and whose professional standards and personal character are high.

It is a credit to them that there are already so many persons teaching who qualify in all these respects and who are doing their work well in spite of handicaps and in spite of meager remuneration and burdensome red tape requirements. It is a discredit to the public that its recognition of the dignity and importance of teaching has lagged so far behind educational progress, and that it is so slow to uphold and reward the efforts of true teachers.

Pan-American Unity

San Francisco Chronicle.

Secretary of State Hughes had planned to be personally present at the opening of the Pan-American conference at Santiago, the capital of Chile. Finding it impossible to get so far from Washington at this time he has sent a message to the conference expressing in behalf of the people of the United States the earnest hope that the result will be a stimulating influence to Pan-American unity.

And in that Secretary Hughes does express the common desire of all the American people. As the Secretary suggests, we have at this time in the condition of Europe a most shocking example of the consequences of international enmity. We in the Americas are at peace. Certainly among us there are pending differences of various kinds, but not one that cannot readily be settled by conceding exact justice to all parties concerned, ascertaining by orderly peaceful processes where justice lies in case of doubt.

At the bottom of it all there must be the will to agree. With that agreement is easy. Without it it may be impossible. In all disputes the will to agree is the essential thing. When all have it, war will be impossible and we may disband our armies and scrap our navies.

Legislative Blocs

San Francisco Chronicle.

Much discussion was heard during the late session of Congress as to the existence of "blooms" among the national legislators, and a good deal of hysteria was displayed because of the formation of an agricultural bloc in the Senate. If this was the first farm bloc ever formed in that body the fact would be more surprising than terrifying, for certainly about every other kind of bloc has lived and flourished in both houses of Congress at various times in our national history.

Those persons who lament the passing of the good old days, and who feel that in recent times politics has grown more selfish and corrupt, may derive much comfort from reading "The Journal of William Maclay." This is a verbatim transcript of the entries written daily in his personal journal by one of the two senators representing the state of Pennsylvania in the first Congress of the United States, from 1789 to 1791. This record shows that blocs existed almost from the first day, and that they operated in precisely the same manner as in the present day.

One of the first important questions arising in the first Congress was over the "permanent residence" of the new government. A New England bloc favored New York City for the capital of the nation; a Southern bloc wanted a location on the Potomac. The Pennsylvanians were divided, Senator Maclay leaning some location on the Susquehanna and his colleague, Robert Morris, toward one on the Delaware; consequently they lost out. A powerful bloc supported the bill providing for the assumption by the United States of the debts incurred by the several states for prosecuting the Revolutionary War. At the present day this proposal seems like a fair and reasonable one. It might not have been regarded otherwise at that time had it not been for the fact that the original creditors would receive no benefit from it, having long before sold their claims for merely nominal sums to speculators, among whom were numbered some of the senators themselves. It is hardly necessary to add that the bloc carried its bill.

The Uninvited Guest!

Christ is Risen

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead; and, behold, He goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring His disciples word.

And as they went to tell His disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held Him by the feet, and worshipped Him.

Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall see me.—St. Matthew, XXVIII: 1-10.

Worth While Verse

EASTER SONG

Oh, I have seen the daffodil
Dance up and down the April hill,
And I have watched the wild flowers go
Where trod the ermine footed snow,
And I have heard the bluebirds spill
The silver of their song
Along
The reedy banks beside the rill.

The seal is broken; ecstasy
Of life on earth again is free
For you and me.

Out of the sky, out of the sod,
There looks the conscious face of God.
—Clinton Scollard.

Time to Smile

CONFIRMING HIS BELIEF.

Bill Nye once had a farm near Asheville, N. C., for which he paid $25,000. One time when James Whitcomb Riley visited Nye there, the latter confided that if the former found anybody wanting the farm at $37,000 it could be bought.

When the poet returned to Indianapolis, he waited around the University Club till about one in the morning, then sent a collect wire to Nye:

"Did you say you would take $37,000 for farm?"

This wire brought Nye out of his bed and into town at that unseemly hour, and he wired back:

"Yes."

Waiting an hour or two after the answer was received in Indianapolis, Riley wired back, also collect:

"That's what I thought."

The Walk to Emmaus

Easter Lesson, Luke 21:12-24.

It came to pass upon that very day Two started to Emmaus, and while on the way,

They talked together of the happenings

Of the past days, the strange, mysterious things Which seemed to crush them

'neath a heavy load—

When lo, a stranger joined them on the road,

Their eyes were hidden that they should not know,

The blessed Lord whose dying grieved them so,

"Why are ye sad?" He asked in kindly tone

"Of what commune ye, as ye walk alone?"

He answered Cleopas, "Hast thou not heard,

The things o'er which our inmost hearts are stirred?"

"What things?" the stranger mildly asked of them,

Said they, "Art thou but come unto Jerusalem

And hast not heard about the shameful death

Of one called Jesus Christ of Nazareth;

A prophet who so strong and mighty seemed,

We hoped He should have Israel redeemed.

"And since His death three days have passed away,

And certain women of our company

Have filled us with astonishment and gloom

By saying they had visited His tomb

And found it empty, desolate and bare;

Moreover they saw angels sitting there,

Who said He was alive. We hastened to the spot,

And found it as they said. Him we saw not."

The stranger said, "O, foolish men and slow,

Behoved it not that Christ should suffer so,

That into glory He should enter in

Who died to save the world from death and sin?"

Beginning then from Moses, He explained
The Scriptures which unto Himself pertained.

Then as He turned as if to further go,
True hospitality His two companions show.

"Abide with us," they said, "fast falls the eventide.

The day is now far spent with us abide."

So He abode with them and made them feel,

That 'twas no common guest that blessed their evening meal.

For as He broke the bread and gave to them to eat,

Omnipotence stood forth, divine and all complete.

Their eyes were opened, they beheld their Lord,

And as they trembling sat uttering no word,

Ere they recovered from surprise and fright,

The risen Savior vanished from their sight.

—Mrs. Kate C. Ebel, Tustin.

SCRIPTURE

Jesus said unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

Jesus saith unto her, Mary. She turned herself, and saith unto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.—St. John, 20:11-16.

MR. BALLARD AGAIN ON THE CHARTER

2033 Hickey St.,
Santa Ana, Cal.

Editor Register:—
If you will allow me I would like to reply to Mr. Grubb's article of March the 19th, wherein he seems to be much concerned about my reply to Mr. Newby. First I want to thank the editor of the Register for the broad-minded view he takes of the question.

Mr. Grubb says my premises are false, whatever that is, and that most of my conclusions are illogical. In regard to what I said to Mr. Newby about the conditions of the City Manager of Wichita, Kans., I still say the same. Mr. Grubb says I don't know what I am talking about. Maybe not in some things, but in this matter I do, for I was there, lived in Wichita for twenty-two years.

Mr. Grubb takes exception to the way I expressed myself on the charter, as I said with the charter as formed we would have a City Assessor and Tax Collector, when the charter says we MAY have these officers. Not much difference, Mr. Grubb.

The charter does NOT provide that the city SHALL have these officers (he emphasizes heavy on the NOT and SHALL) and yet he says under our present law we have the same power. Why does Mr. Grubb object to the way I said it? He says this is a sample of the misinformation on which my communication is based.

Mr. Grubb said I contradicted myself when I said three-fourths of the small taxpayers were opposed to the city manager form of government—that if that were the case we would not have had it. Now Mr. Grubb, you know very well that at any special election of any kind, for any purpose that we never as yet have had an expression of the majority of the voters. For instance, in our last election we were all interested, but we did not all vote; that is the reason, pure and simple, why we got the city manager form of government in Wichita, and if we get it here that will likely be the case.

In regard to the coming election for city manager, will Mr. Grubb kindly inform us who wanted the change from the present form to the city manager form. Was it the people at large or was it the ring?

Mr. Grubb very well knew that to get a recall it takes quite an effort and a lot of money, and the same element that gets it introduced would of course continue it.

I agree with Mr. Grubb in that taxes have increased everywhere, as they must to keep abreast of the times, but what I do object to is having a city manager tell us what to do and when to do it. What I can't see through is, if our council is competent to pick the city manager, why are they not just as competent to run the city affairs themselves? I would be in favor of raising the salaries of the council so they could devote their time to the city the same as the city clerk. Then we could get good business men to look after the city's affairs, just as all other businesses are run.

Mr. Grubb, in referring to what I said about Long Beach and Sacramento, says that Long Beach's revenues were increased $50,000 over previous years. He does not take into consideration that the growth of the city would make that as it will show an increase here, whether we have a manager or not.

I think Mr. Grubb contradicts himself when he said every church club but one endorsed the charter when it was before the people two years ago. If that had been the sentiment of the majority of those bodies the charter would have carried 3 to 1, for we all belong to some church, club or order. The fact is that it was not endorsed by the people, and the only reason it was defeated was because the people in general did not want it, and I think the same feeling exists today.

Mr. Grubb is so taken with the city manager form that he thinks it would be well for our nation to adopt it. As I said some time ago, I am an American and am not in favor of monarchical government.

In conclusion I will say that I think Mr. Grubb owes an apology to the people who are opposed to the charter with city manager, for there is no doubt that those who oppose the charter are as progressive and intelligent as those favoring it.

Thanking The Register for the courtesy it has shown me.

I am truly yours,

EVENING SALUTATION

He stands and calls beside our path, our door;
Weary and spent He comes, His wound He bares,
And bends on us His deep, appealing eyes,

HE CAME TO SAVE THE WORLD

Easter commemorates the resurrection of Christ from the sepulchre. It comes in the spring, when everywhere about us the spirit of resurrection is symbolized by nature. It should suggest to every one of us that this is the time for the resurrection of our spiritual natures.

The church is the open door to realization of resurrection. It stands waiting to develop us spiritually.

Easter, today, means a great deal more than it has ever meant. In keeping with the progress of Christianity, this great day means more to the world than it has ever meant; it means more to each of us than, perhaps, we have realized.

Christ came to this earth, and lived, and died, and arose from the dead, for a purpose. He came to save the world.

Easter, more than any other day in all the year, typifies the depth of the love, the completeness of the purity, the sacredness of the purpose, of Christ.

And on this day, more than upon any other day of all the year, our minds ought to be occupied with the essentials of Christ's coming, with the essentials of religion, with the essentials of Christlike living.

If we but comprehend the meaning of Christ arisen, we will know that small controversies in religious beliefs are swept aside. We will feel and know that religion is not a mere matter of differences of opinion but that religion is a great force in human existence to be applied in a sacrificial manner to the great problems of the world, with Christ's ideals of fellowship, and peace, and righteousness as the stars that guide us.

SIGNIFICANCE OF EASTER EGG

The colored Easter egg, which is today chiefly a means of entertaining children, has in reality a profound sacred significance.

The egg has from the remotest ages been regarded as the symbol of creation or new birth, and all the ancient religions possessed ceremonies in which the egg figured in this emblematic sense. The Christians adopted it as the symbol of the resurrection of Christ and, in the early ceremonies, it was colored red in allusion to His blood shed for sinners on the cross.

Through the centuries since the beginning of Christianity various games and contests have been played everywhere in Christendom in which the egg held a prominent part. This was an accompaniment of and a growth from the significance of the Easter egg.

BIBLE FILM CENSORSHIP

The National Motion Picture League, which is recognized as having done much good work in raising moral standards in the movie industry, arouses considerable wonder when it comes to apply its standards to Holy Writ. It approves of current "church films" on general principles, as calculated to have a good effect on public morals. But when it comes to the Cain and Abel film in the Holy Bible Series, it reports as follows:

"Biblical story as told in Genesis IV. The following elimination is suggested: Scenes of Cain hitting Abel on the head and killing him."

This recommendation rather staggers Bible students as well as movie patrons. The idea seems to be that the fact of murder being committed in the family of Adam and Eve should be merely intimated in the most delicate and roundabout way, instead of being depicted with the vividness of the Bible narrative.

Perhaps Genesis is in bad taste. Or perhaps this particular story, related so many thousands of times with such telling effect to Sunday school pupils or to children at their mother's knee, tends to inspire murderous thoughts in the young. A mere parent would never have thought of that.

THE BIGGEST DEFICIT

The United States, with an estimated deficit of about $150,000,000 for the present fiscal year, has nothing to worry over. Germany's deficit is 7,100,000,000,000 (seven trillion, one hundred billion) marks.

That number of paper marks, placed end to end, would probably reach to the Milky Way. It is truly a deficit of cosmic proportions. And the total debt piled up by Germany is of far more fantastic size. On paper, Germany owes more than the whole earth would bring at a planetary auction.

Neither admiration nor pity is called for, however. Germany complains that she was forced to start inflating her currency, and that having once started, she could not stop. England and America never started. France and Italy started it, but stopped in time to save off financial ruin.

Russia has been the German model in finance. The Soviet government recently started deflating its currency by lopping off six ciphers from every paper note. The German government might make a new beginning by doing likewise. Deflation will have to come sometime, if Germany expects to continue in business as an organized nation.

SOCIALISM IN ENGLAND

The resolution in support of which Philip Snowden made his big Socialist speech in the House of Commons the other day reads as follows:

"That in view of the failure of the Capitalist system, this House declares that a legislative effort should be directed to the gradual supersession of the Capitalist system by an industrial and social order based on public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production and distribution."

This was a daring proposal to commit the British government officially to the Socialist program. Naturally it failed, though its champion was given a respectful hearing. Great Britain, seeing what has come from Lenin's application of Marxism, is not likely to declare for that doctrine. Capitalism, with all its admitted imperfections, is seen to have succeeded better than any other system yet tried, and to be necessary and inevitable in the present state of civilization, at least.

Yet it is illuminating to read that resolution over carefully with a view to seeing just what its acceptance by the British Parliament would mean. It might mean far less change, in the supposedly conservative British Isles, than the proposer himself imagines.

The Fabian Socialists, by avoiding the name "Socialism" in the last 25 years have won victory after victory for "the gradual supersession of the Capitalist system by an industrial and social order based on public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production and distribution." There is not much public ownership, but an immense and increasing amount of democratic public control over property, wages and living and working conditions.

Favors Bifurcated Session

Stockton Independent.

The State Senate has voted down a resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to do away with the bifurcated legislative sessions.

The two-term session, with intervening recess of a month has been quite generally criticized by press and legislators, but it is very doubtful if there ever will be a return to a single continuous session. A reluctance to take what might even seem to be a "backward step" will operate strongly against a change. Natural inertia likewise is against doing anything about it. Which means chiefly that the question is not important enough for a real issue.

While the two session legislature has never fulfilled the expectations of its ardent advocates and while it is costly and breaks into the orderly progress of routine legislation, it has certain advantages which normally offset its disadvantages and it has potential uses which well justify a continuance of the system.

Its one big advantage is that it enables the administration or the "opposition" (we are rapidly developing the European method) to "go to the people."

On the King tax fight of two years ago the administration went to the people on the issue of corporation taxation and it is conceded that it was this act that produced the necessary votes in the second half.

This year the opposition went to the people on the budget. With what result yet remains to be seen. It is easily conceivable that a still greater issue in fundamental policy may arise and an appeal to public opinion during the legislative recess could easily be determined.

The divided session is worth keeping.

The Teaching Tradition

Visalia Delta.

A young woman, a college graduate, who tried teaching before she took up her present occupation as head of a city branch of the Travelers' Aid society, speaks of her teaching years thus:

"Teaching was a tradition in my family and all my ancestors would have turned in their graves if I had not tried it, but I soon decided that they would rise up if I continued, for teaching was not my vocation."

That tells one of the ancient reasons for the choice of teaching by many young women. Tradition required girls to take up teaching. It was a refined and genteel profession, even when it didn't pay as well as it ought to.

The present day tendency for young women to try everything but teaching when they seek to make their own way in the world is a good thing for the profession. Teaching is tremendously important work. It needs fine, clear-thinking, well-trained men and women with the ability to stimulate the thinking processes of pupils as well as to impart knowledge to them. It needs men and women who like the work and believe in it, and whose professional standards and personal character are high.

It is a credit to them that there are already so many persons teaching who qualify in all these respects and who are doing their work well in spite of handicaps and in spite of meager remuneration and burdensome red tape requirements. It is a discredit to the public that its recognition of the dignity and importance of teaching has lagged so far behind educational progress, and that it is so slow to uphold and reward the efforts of true teachers."

Pan-American Unity

San Francisco Chronicle.

Secretary of State Hughes had planned to be personally present at the opening of the fifth Pan-American conference at Santiago, the capital of Chile. Finding it impossible to get so far from Washington at this time he has sent a message to the conference expressing in behalf of the people of the United States the earnest hope that the result will be a stimulating influence to Pan-American unity.

And in that Secretary Hughes does express the earnest desire of all the American people. As the Secretary suggests, we have at this time in the condition of Europe a most shocking example of the consequences of international enmity. We in the Americas are at peace. Certainly among us there are pending differences of various kinds, but not one that cannot readily be settled by conceding exact justice to all parties concerned, ascertaining by orderly peaceful processes where justice lies in case of doubt.

At the bottom of it all there must be the will to agree. With that agreement is easy. Without it it may be impossible. In all disputes the will to agree is the essential thing. When all have it war will be impossible and we may disband our armies and scrap our navies.

Legislative Blocs

San Francisco Chronicle.

Much discussion was heard during the late session of Congress as to the existence of "blocs" among the national legislators, and a good deal of hysteria was displayed because of the formation of an agricultural bloc in the Senate. If this was the first farm bloc ever formed in that body the fact would be more surprising than terrifying, for certainly about every other kind of bloc has lived and flourished in both houses of Congress at various times in our national history.

Those persons who lament the passing of the good old days, and who feel that in recent times politics has grown more selfish and corrupt, may derive much comfort from reading "The Journal of William Maclay." This is a verbatim transcript of the entries written daily in his personal journal by one of the two senators representing the state of Pennsylvania in the first Congress of the United States, from 1789 to 1791. This record shows that blocs existed almost from the first day, and that they operated in precisely the same manner as in the present day.

One of the first important questions arising in the first Congress was over the "permanent residence" of the new government. A New England bloc favored New York City for the capital of the nation; a Southern bloc wanted a location on the Potomac. The Pennsylvanians were divided, Senator Maclay desiring some location on the Susquehanna and his colleague, Robert Morris, favored one on the Delaware; consequently they lost out. A powerful bloc supported the bill providing for the assumption by the United States of the debts incurred by the several states for prosecuting the Revolutionary War. At the present day this proposal seems like a fair and reasonable one. It might not have been regarded otherwise at that time had it not been for the fact that the original creditors would receive no benefit from it, having long before sold their claims for merely nominal sums to speculators, among whom were numbered some of the senators themselves. It is hardly necessary to add that the bloc carried its bill.

The Uninvited Guest!

Christ is Risen

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead; and, behold, He goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy: and did run to bring His disciples word.

And as they went to tell His disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held Him by the feet, and worshipped Him.

Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall see me.—St. Matthew, XXVIII: 1-10.

Time to Smile

CONFIRMING HIS BELIEF.

Bill Nye once had a farm near Asheville, N. C., for which he paid $35,000. One time when James Whitcomb Riley visited Nye there, the latter confided that if the former found anybody wanting the farm at $37,000 it could be bought.

When the poet returned to Indianapolis, he waited around the University Club till about one in the morning, then sent a collect wire to Nye:

"Did you say you would take $37,000 for farm?"
"This wire brought Nye out of his bed and into town at that unseemly hour, and he wired back:

"Yes."
Waiting an hour or two after the answer was received in Indianapolis, Riley wired back, also collect:

"That's what I thought."

The Walk to Emmaus

Easter Lesson. Luke 21:12-24.

It came to pass upon that very day Two started to Emmaus, and while on the way,

They talked together of the happenings Of the past days, the strange, mysterious things

Which seemed to crush them "neath a heavy load,— When lo, a stranger joined them on the road,

Their eyes were hidden that they should not know,

The blessed Lord whose dying gripped them so,

"Why are ye sad?" He asked in kindly tone

"Of what commune ye, as ye walk alone?"

Then answered Cleopas, "Hast thou not heard,

The things o'er which our inmost hearts are stirred?"

"What things?" the stranger mildly asked of them,

Said they, "Art thou but come unto Jerusalem

And hast not heard about the shameful death Of one called Jesus Christ of Nazareth;

A prophet who so strong and mighty seemed,

We hoped He should have Israel redeemed.

"And since His death three days have passed away,

And certain women of our company Have filled us with astonishment and gloom

By saying they had visited His tomb And found it empty, desolate and bare;

Moreover they saw angels sitting there,

Who said He was alive. We hastened to the spot,

And found it as they said. Him we saw not."

The stranger said, "O foolish men and slow,

Behold it not that Christ should suffer so,

That into glory He should enter in Who died to save the world from death and sin?"

Beginn'g then from Moses, He explained The Scriptures which unto Him self pertained,

Then as He turned as if to further go,

True hospitality His two companions show,

"Abide with us," they said, "fast falls the eventide,

The day is now far spent with us abide."

So He abode with them and made them feel,

That 'twas no common guest that blessed their evening meal.

For as He broke the bread and gave to them to eat,

Omnipotence stood forth, divine and all complete,

Their eyes were opened, they beheld their Lord,

And as they trembling sat uttering no word,

Ere they recovered from surprise and fright,

The risen Savior vanished from their sight.

—Mrs. Kate C. Ebel, Tusculum.

2033 Hickey St., Santa Ana, Cal.

Editor Register:—

If you will allow me I would like to reply to Mr. Grubb's article of March the 19th, wherein he seems to be much concerned about my reply to Mr. Newby. First I want to thank the editor of the Register for the broad-minded view he takes of the question.

Mr. G. says my premises are false, whatever that is, and that most of my conclusions are illogical. In regard to what I said to Mr. Newby about the conditions of the City Manager of Wichita, Kansas, I still say the same. Mr. Grubb says I don't know what I am talking about. Maybe not in some things, but in this matter I do, for I was there, lived in Wichita for twenty-two years.

Mr. Grubb takes exception to the way I expressed myself on the charter, as I said with the charter as formed we would have a City Assessor and Tax Collector, when the charter says we MAY have these officers. Not much difference, Mr. Grubb.

The charter does NOT provide that the city SHALL have these officers (he emphasizes heavy on the NOT and SHALL) and yet he says under our present law we have the same power. Why does Mr. Grubb object to the way I said it? He says this is a sample of the misinformation on which my communication is based.

Mr. Grubb said I contradicted myself when I said three-fourths of the small taxpayers were opposed to the city manager form of government—that if that were the case we would not have had it. Now, Mr. Grubb, you know very well that at any special election of any kind, for any purpose that we never as yet have had an expression of the majority of the voters. For instance, in our last election we were all interested, but we did not all vote; that is the reason, pure and simple, why we got the city manager form of government in Wichita, and if we get it here that will likely be the case.

In regard to the coming election for city manager, will Mr. Grubb kindly inform us who wanted the change from the present form to the city manager form. Was it the people at large or was it the ring?

Mr. Grubb very well knew that to get a recall it takes quite an effort and a lot of money, and the same element that gets it introduced would of course continue it. I agree with Mr. Grubb in that taxes have increased everywhere, as they must to keep abreast of the times, but what I do object to is having a city manager tell us what to do and when to do it. What I can't see through is, if our council is competent to pick the city manager, why are they not just as competent to run the city affairs themselves? I would be in favor of raising the salaries of the council so they could devote their time to the city the same as the city clerk. Then we could get good business men to look after the city's affairs, just as all other businesses are run.

Mr. Grubb, in referring to what I said about Long Beach and Sacramento, says that Long Beach's revenues were increased $50,000 over previous years. He does not take into consideration that the growth of the city would make that as it will show an increase here, whether we have a manager or not. I think Mr. Grubb contradicts himself when he said every church

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Bafton

The next person the Twins met in Sugar-Plum Land was a black hen with a red flannel comb, glass bead eyes and paste board feet. Her feathers were real, however, and as black as coal.

"How d'ye do?" said Nancy. "What's your name?"

"Higgely Piggely—what else?" answered the black hen. "I lay eggs for gentlemen just as the rhyme says. And I lay sometimes nine and sometimes ten, and sometimes a hundred which no live hen would ever think of doing."

"Then how does it happen that you can?" asked Nick.

"Easy as pie," replied Higgely Piggely. "I'm as full of candy eggs as a pin cushion is of sawdust. My head unscrews and the rest of me is hollow like the Green Sugar Pie. I think that the Easter Bunny is going to put me into some child's Easter basket. But I'll tell you a secret. I'm mortally tired to death."

"Why?" asked Nancy.

"The Chocolate Rabbit told the Green-Sugar Pig and the Pig told the Knick Knack Elephant, and the Elephant told the Pink Gelatin Fish, and the Fish told the Maple-Sugar Rooster, and he told me that the Easter Bunny was going to put Puffy Wuzzy, the Yellow Duckling, into the same basket with me."

"Won't you like that?" asked Nick. "He will be good company."

"Like it? I feel like fainting. Good company, indeed! Why everyone will think he's my son, and not wishing to separate us, they will keep us together the rest of our lives. I just know I shall be set on the nursery mantel shelf with him right beside me and there we'll stay till kingdom come."

"If you feel so cut up about it, perhaps we can fix it," said kind Nancy. "I shall ask the Gingerbread Man to speak to the Easter Bunny. Perhaps he'll change Puffy Wuzzy for a nice downy chick."

"Thank you," exclaimed Higgely Piggely. "I shall be very grateful."
